ICKES STATES NEW POLICY ON U. S. BUILDING

To Allow PWA Money For Necessities Only, Administrator Declares

A new policy in the construction of public buildings is announced by Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes in an official statement accompanying release of $16,678,675 for 237 buildings.

The statement of policy declares the appropriations "embrace erection of needed post offices of a sensible utilitarian character instead of the monumental edifices which have been built in past years."

The statement continues:

"All the buildings provided for in the allotment represent the result of re-studies of previous post office projects which brought wholesale revisions downward in expense without loss of efficiency.

"The allotment raised the total of Federal structures to be erected under supervision of the Treasury only from PWA funds to 389 at a cost of $53,935,944. Additional similar buildings are now under study.

"Application of this rule of reason by PWA has made possible justification of the new post office structures at a greatly reduced cost giving the communities affected all the widespread regenerative benefits of over 160,000 man-months of employment during construction.

"In the place of the characteristic elaborately ornamented conspicuous stone structures frequently produced as new post offices, more modest and fitting buildings which will save the Government millions of dollars will be built. The supervising architect of the Treasury has completed an extensive study of the possibility of this type of structure in many towns and cities and reported such construction advisable and practicable.

"Without sacrifice of space or working conditions the new type of structures will be fashioned to fit into their surroundings and provide Government workers the facilities required to give good postal service.

"Suitable sites will be selected in localities picked with a view to improving the service. These sites will not necessarily be the most prominent and expensive corners

EXPECT FEDERAL BUILDING AWARD

Although official confirmation was lacking it was reliably reported yesterday that Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes had approved an additional appropriation of $58,000 for the San Francisco Federal office building. This action would permit award of a contract immediately to the Great Lakes Construction Company, low bidder. An award this week has been anticipated by local authorities on the Great Lakes company's bid of $2,566,800 on Alternate II, with minor deductions, but it will be necessary to obtain PWA approval of a slight increase in the original appropriation of $2,689,000 in order to complete the building at this figure and allow for the estimated costs of lighting fixtures and elevators which are being let under separate contracts.

but will suit the convenience of both post office workers and users.

"Realizing the changes recent years have made in the use of the post offices and that in sizable communities the post office no longer serves as the town meeting place, and citizens rely on delivery service, special attention will be given to delivery facilities in connection with the new structures.

"Local materials of a suitable nature will be used wherever feasible in the buildings instead of expensive stones transported a long distance.

"Sites will be secured by the Government in the regular manner and the post office contracts and construction will be supervised as heretofore.

"The post offices provided for by the allotment will take the place of buildings where inadequate space is leased by the Government at large expense or where the physical condition of the building and working conditions are poor.

"The allotments cover the Treasury estimate of the cost of buildings, land, administration expense, furniture, fixtures, etc., for delivery of a complete post office ready for operation and in each instance current construction costs and reasonable changes in construction expenses have been taken into consideration."

OCTOBER GAIN IN CONSTRUCTION EMPLOYMENT 8.3%

State Average Improves Despite Decrease in San Francisco Vicinity

An increase of 8.3 percent in number of employes and .6 percent in amount of weekly payrolls in October compared with September is reported for the construction industry by State Labor Commissioner Frank C. MacDonald.

The San Francisco-Alameda region reported a decrease of 11.9 percent in number of employes and a decrease of 13.9 in payrolls. Los Angeles firms reported an increase of 18.3 percent in employes and 14 percent increase in payrolls. The remainder of the state reported an increase of 18.2 percent in employes and decrease of 6.9 percent in payrolls.

Compared with October, 1932, the month showed a gain of 9.6 percent in employes and a decline of 4.4 percent in weekly payrolls. The San Francisco-Alameda area gain was 16.2 percent in number of employes and 10.4 percent in payroll totals. Los Angeles reported 27.1 percent gain in employes and 5.8 gain in payrolls. The remainder of the state showed a decline of 30.3 percent in employes and 42.7 percent in payrolls.

Sixty-five firms in San Francisco and vicinity reported 1,896 men employed with a total weekly payroll of $39,894. Sixty-eight firms in Los Angeles and vicinity reported 3,988 employes with a weekly payroll of $69,913.

CONTRACTORS TO HIRE DAM LABOR

Ninety-nine per cent of men employed in construction of Bonneville dam will be hired by private contractors, according to Major C. F. Williams, army engineer in charge.

The few governmental employes to get jobs will be hired from civil service lists, Major Williams said. Contractors working on the dam will be required to select their employes, except those in an executive capacity, from lists furnished by federal employment bureaus.

MARIN TOWER SECTIONS AT PIER SITE

Gate Bridge Manager Predicts
Favorable Action on Approach Funds

Approximately 534 tons of massive column sections, to be used in construction of the Marin tower of the Golden Gate Bridge, have been barged to Lime Point from Alameda and landed on the cofferdam surrounding the Marin pier, which has been transformed into a material wharf with giant lifting machinery formerly used on the George Washington Bridge at New York in place.

The the same time General Manager James Reed arrived in San Francisco following an eastern trip of three weeks, upon which he presented the application of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District for N.R.A. construction funds.

In his presentation he was supported by Congressman Clarence F. Lea, of the first district of California. Mr. Reed left Washington to visit the eastern shops were materials for the Golden Gate Bridge are being fabricated, after having received assurance that the district's request was favorably received by the federal works administration and will be followed through by Congressman Lea. He stated that a definite commitment upon the part of the government agency may be expected within a few days.

However, he said, there is some eastern opposition due to the fact that it is felt that California projects already have been well taken care of. This, he pointed out, was overcome to a considerable degree when he called attention to the fact that a large proportion of the materials for the bridge is being fabricated in the east.

In visiting the eastern shops Mr. Reed found large numbers of men working on the various structural units. He declared that counting the men employed in the various plants producing materials for the bridge, the project is furnishing employment today for approximately 1400 workers. The proportion of these working on the bridge proper during the past week averaged 300 a day.

At the John A. Roehlings Sons plant at Trenton, New Jersey, 1600 tons of steel cable wire has been drawn, tested and accepted by the district's inspection force. Concrete poured during the past week on the Marin and San Francisco cable anchorages was 7600 cu. yds.

Leon S. Moisseff, bridge consultant, is in San Francisco and will attend Wednesday's meeting of the board of directors.

CLARIFY LABOR PROVISIONS OF PWA CONTRACTS

A bulletin has been issued to supervising architects and contractors on public works projects in the state of Utah by Geo. A. Yager, Utah state director of the National Reemployment Service, for the purpose of clarifying labor provisions on NRA projects.

The text of the bulletin follows:

"Circular No. 1 of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works (July 31) indicated some adjustment in and additions to, the Labor Policy as related to placement service. Under sub-section (5) of Section 1 of Article II, provision was made that 'Highly skilled or organized labor shall not be required to register for work at such local employment agencies, but shall be secured in the customary ways through recognized trade unions locals.' (Later it was explained that the inclusion of the word 'or' was a typographical error.)

"In the Contract Form later issued (P. W. A. 51), this matter was made even more specific. Since the changes this made seemed to cause the statement to be subject to conflicting interpretations, on Sept. 12, 1933, a statement of interpretation was secured from Col. H. M. Waite, Deputy Administrator of the P. W. A. This statement, in substance, declared that the contractor must request organized labor through recognized trade union locals; that such local shall furnish workers within 48 hours after receiving the request; that on failure of the trade union local to do so, the contractor might elect to allow an extension of the time, but that otherwise he must secure his qualified workers from agencies designated by the United States Employment Service."

APPROVE COPPER NAIL STANDARD

Simplified Practice Recommendation R150-33, Copper Wire Nails, has been accorded the required degree of written approval by the industry, and is to become effective December 1, 1933, according to an announcement by the Division of Simplified Practice, Bureau of Standards.

This recommendation, which was proposed and developed by the industry, covers the length and gauge of common copper wire nails with flat heads and copper wire slating nails.

The recommendation represents a substantial reduction in the variety heretofore listed for regular stock

WEBB RULES ON CITY ENGINEER QUALIFICATION

State Board Cannot Require
Registered Appointee in Municipal Position

The office of city engineer in California municipalities may be held by an individual who is not a registered civil engineer, according to an opinion rendered by Attorney General U. S. Webb.

The opinion was given in answer to an inquiry from Pecos H. Callahan, assistant secretary of the State Board of Registration for Civil Engineers. In reply to the query Mr. Webb said:

"The same reasoning which we used in Opinion No. 8841 addressed to you under date of October 9, 1933, relative to qualifications of county engineers applies to this question.

"In general I will say that in the absence of a provision of general law or of a charter of a particular city requiring registration under the Civil Engineers Registration Act, Chapter 801, Statutes of 1929, as amended, as a qualification for the position of city engineer of a city, town or municipality, it is permissible for a person to occupy such position without registration and to hold the title and perform the duties of such position.

"We find nothing in the Municipal Corporation Bill (California Statutes 1889, page 930, as amended) laying down such a qualification for a city engineer. In the case of a city operating under a charter the provisions of the particular charter would have to be consulted to determine whether the city engineer of such city must be so registered."

LABOR PUBLICATION REVIEWS NRA CODES

One of the articles in the October Monthly Labor Review, published by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, summarizes permanent industrial codes adopted during September, 1933. It describes the provisions of the codes for the following industries:

Cast-iron soil pipe, leather, motion picture laboratories, salt production, wall paper, artificial flower and feather, bituminous coal mining, gasoline pump manufacturing, liboleum and felt base manufacturing, oil burner, textile bag, transit, and manufacture of underwear and allied products.

LICENSES OF 7 CONTRACTORS ARE SUSPENDED

Registrar Revokes Permits After Hearings on Complaints

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 14. — Suspension of the state licenses of seven contractors found guilty of diversion of funds and other illegal practices, in violation of the California Contractors' Act, was announced here today by Col. Carlos W. Huntington, registrar of contractors.

Under the terms of the suspension orders, the contractors will be unable to engage again in the construction business during the period of suspension, and until such time as the complaint has been settled to the satisfaction of the registrar and the complaining witness.

Action of the registrar follows exhaustive investigation of charges filed against the contractors, and formal hearings conducted under the direction of Glen V. Slater, assistant registrar.

"We have suspended the licenses of these contractors," declared Registrar Huntington, "in keeping with our policy of taking punitive action against any builder whom we find to be guilty of illegal practices. We are relentlessly enforcing this law as a means of ridding the state of the unethical, unscrupulous and fly-by-night builder, who preys upon the gullible public."

The license of Bernard Kressfield, operating under the name of Interstate Bronze and Manufacturing Company, Culver City, was indefinitely suspended for abandonment of contract for the brass and ornamental work on the new federal post office in Sacramento.

Fred J. Rich, inspector, was the complaining witness, and N. P. Severin Company, Chicago, Illinois, general contractors on the $1,000,000 project. The suspension followed the recommendation of Referee Ralph S. Bowdle.

Paul Wetzel of Bell, was found guilty of diversion of funds and abandonment of a contract. His license was ordered suspended for 60 days and until such time as restitution is made to Mrs. Natividad Servin, 218½ West 18th Street, Los Angeles, complaining witness. Wetzel was charged with accepting $290 from Mrs. Servin for construction of a building, and diverting the money to his own use. He pleaded guilty, and has repaid $130 through the registrar, with a promise to reimburse Mrs. Servin for the remainder.

Charged with diversion of funds, Allan MacDonald, 4016 Rhoda St., Oakland, has been ordered to surrender his license for 90 days. Albert C. Moe, Foot of 7th St., Oakland, charged that MacDonald purchased materials from him for a building at Lee and Bergier Sts., San Leandro, but failed to pay for the materials, defeating Moe's claim

U. S. Chamber Review Says Code Wage Dispute Delaying Building

The semi-monthly publication, "Washington Review," published this week by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has the following to say of the dispute that has arisen over pay scales in the construction code:

"Serious obstacles to the speeding up of private building operations on a wide scale are beginning to appear in difficulties that have arisen over code provisions for the construction industry.

"It has been generally recognized that private, as well as public, construction should go ahead as rapidly as possible. However, any large or immediate expansion of private building appears impossible if wage rate proposals now before the National Recovery Administration are to prevail.

"Codes generally have confined themselves to maximum hours of labor and to a minimum wage for any employee in an industry. After conclusion of hearings on the general construction code, and after the document had been revised and was approaching final form proposals earlier made by representatives of labor came forward within the Recovery Administration that to the usual provision fixing minimum wages for all employees there should be added provision for fixing higher minimum pay for skilled workers.

"As evidenced by some documents already filed, the next apparent step is to be a proposal that in supplemental codes to be prepared for branches of the industry, and to be coordinated with the general code, there should be inserted provisions fixing the rates of compensation for each craft and each occupation throughout the country. For carpenters, cement workers, masons and all the other workers in the building trades, there would be nation-wide rates of wage below which no worker might be employed, the rate being the same, for example, in Montana, Arizona, Maine, most of Texas, and Wisconsin, outside of Milwaukee.

"Obviously, these proposals, if made effective in the codes, offer an obstacle to resumption of building in many parts of the country.

"President Harriman, in a special communication, has called the attention of the Chamber's membership to the gravity of the situation. His letter says:

"An issue has arisen with respect to the general code for the construction industry. This issue is of direct interest to every community which desires to have private construction go forward.

"The general code contains the customary provision for a minimum wage for all workers in construction. Since the code has reached an advanced state in its preparation for approval, proposals have been insistently urged in the labor interest that to the usual provision for a minimum wage in the industry there should be added a minimum for skilled workers. Acceptance of these proposals would undoubtedly mean that there will be proposals that in supplementary codes for the different branches of the construction industry there should be inserted rates of wage for every craft and occupation.

"Industries having no relation to construction will be interested in the new departure which is being urged in the labor provisions of codes. Communities which have been looking forward to revival of private construction, and which would find in these proposals with respect to wages such increases that construction could not proceed, will be immediately concerned."

by assigning to a third party sums due him from the owner.

Because John W. Marshall, subcontractor, 260 Bennett Ave., Long Beach, allegedly failed to complete a building for the price and conditions specified in his contract with Eric Flodine, 2021 Wellington Road, Los Angeles, general contractor, his license was suspended for 30 days. His attorney-in-fact, John Hutchinson, was named a co-defendant in the action, and Marshall was instructed by Registrar Huntington to handle all contracts in his own name, when, and if, his license is reinstated.

Acting on the recommendation of District Supervisor I. L. Swearingen, Los Angeles, Registrar Huntington ordered suspension of the license of Robert J. Moorhead, 1649 Longwood Avenue, Los Angeles, for 60 days, and until adequate restitution of damages is made to Abe Friendly, 453 South Spring Street,

Los Angeles, complaining witness. Moorhead was found guilty of diversion of funds in connection with a building project at 5749 South Western Avenue, Los Angeles.

The license of O. J. Fisher, Laguna Beach, was also ordered suspended following introduction of evidence to show that he allegedly failed to pay E. R. Jones, Laguna Beach, complaining witness, his wages in full. It was charged that Fisher paid only $492 on a labor bill totaling $756, leaving a balance of $263.

Acting on recommendation of Orman Lutz, district supervisor, Registrar Huntington ordered the license of Matt H. Fugina, 769 Rhode Island Street, San Francisco, suspended for 30 days on charges of diversion of funds in connection with a construction job for Mrs. Rose Bio, 1339 38th Ave., San Francisco. Harry Apte, 287 Arleta St., San Francisco, was the complaining witness.

ROSEVILLE, Placer Co., Cal.—The Roseville City Council has retained J. O. Barr of the firm of Cunningham & Barr, as consultant on the city's plan to acquire a municipal water system for which bonds were voted Oct. 12, in the sum of $250,000. The council has authorized an offer of $140,000 to the owners of the existing water system for its plant. If the offer is not accepted, it is probable that the city will undertake construction of a new system.

FRESNO COUNTY, Cal.—The Fresno County Board of Supervisors has completed the formation of the Fresno County Waterworks District No. 2, formerly the Bullard Mutual Waterworks District. Residents of the district voted Nov. 6 by a vote of 63 to 9 to form the new district, and to issue $38,000 in bonds for the installation of a new domestic water system.

CALAVERAS COUNTY, Cal.—Calaveras County Board of Supervisors has set December 4 at 3 P. M., as the time for hearing a petition to create the Calaveras Public Utilities District. The hearing will be held at the Calaveras County Court House in San Andreas.

OAKLAND, Cal.—The Oakland city will place a bond issue for an extension of the high-pressure fire protection system in the sum of $350,000, before the voters at the December 19 election. If the issue is approved, the city will apply for Federal Public Works funds.

COLTON, Cal.—The city of Colton has applied to Federal Public Works Administration for a loan of $93,000 for the construction of a water supply system, involving:

- (1) 30,655 ft. 6-in. steel pipe;

- (9) 1 battery of 4-in. do;
- (10) 6 600,000 gal. tanks;
- (11) 1 250,000 gal. tank,

REDWOOD CITY, Cal.—Federal Public Works Administration has granted $5000 to Redwood City to aid in the construction of an extension of the water system to improve the service from Emerald Lake. Estimated cost of the work is $20,000. The city's share of the expense of construction will be obtained from water system revenues. City Engineer, C. L. Dimmitt has announced that the bids will be advertised shortly.

EVERETT, Wash.—Engineer Clarence Hickey has announced that the survey for rebuilding the gravity water line will be completed this week, and that plans and specifications preparatory to calling for bids will be ready in about two weeks. Under the revised survey the gravity line will be 77,600 ft. long, about 5000 ft. shorter than the present one. Alternate bids will probably be asked, as Engineer Hickey has explained that construction of a 1700-ft. tunnel through a ridge would further shorten the line to the extent of about 8000 ft. and at the same time would increase the capacity of the line and eliminate danger of washout by the Pilchuck river, along which the longer survey runs.

CANBY, Ore.—Until Nov. 27, 8 P. M., bids will be received by the city council, J. A. Fesmark, City Recorder City Hall, Canby, for furnishing all materials excepting the pumping unit for construction of a new water supply system for the City of Canby, with alternate proposals by which the city will furnish pipe. The work involves:

- (1) installation of 3050 lin. ft. 6-inch cast iron or steel pipe;
- (2) 125 GPM pumping unit;
- (3) pump house;
- (4) spring intake;
- (5) reservoir.

Separate proposals are asked for furnishing pipe only and for furnishing pumping unit.

Plans and specifications obtainable at the office of the Water Superintendent, Canby, or at the office of the Engineer, H. L. Gilbert, 707 Couch Bldg., Portland, upon deposit of $5, returnable.

FALLON, Nev.—R. A. Allen, State Public Works Engineer, has been advised that the Federal Public Works Administration has approved a loan of $100,000 to the City of Fallon for improvements to the water distribution system.

STATE LACKS MONEY FOR RECOVERY ACT

Corporation Commission Must Drop Enforcement of Statute

The California recovery act, state running mate for NRA, yesterday faced abandonment because of lack of funds to establish and enforce business and industrial codes.

An announcement by Edwin M. Daugherty, CRA administrator, and Rolland Vandegrift, finance director, said that the state recovery act administration faced a $115,000 deficit for its first year and that support from the emergency fund had been exhausted.

Contingent upon ruling from Attorney General Webb that CRA legally can be arrested, Daugherty said that no more code applications will be accepted, no hearings other than those previously scheduled will be held, and no enforcement of existing codes can be attempted.

The CRA administration immediately will be reduced to a skeleton force.

"It will be absolutely impossible because of the present conditions of the emergency fund to finance the administration of the California Industrial Recovery act," said Vandegrift.

"The corporation commission, charged with administration of CRA, has not enough funds for its other duties of enforcing the corporate securities act, the personal property brokers act, the industrial loan act and the credit union act.

"It would be unwise to advance any further funds from the corporation commission appropriation.

"Provisions made by the legislature for financing the recovery act have proven wholly inadequate."

The legislature set up a filing fee of $25.00 per code. Daugherty said each code represents a cost of $1,500. Approximately 50 codes are in effect, with applications for 150 more pending. Disposition of pending applications must await an attorney general's ruling as to whether the state entered into a contract by accepting the filing fee.

Daugherty declared the national recovery act is gradually supplanting the state codes.

CALL NEW BIDS ON BRIDGE WALL

New bids are to be asked on construction of 4.1 miles of rock retaining wall along the route of the Berkeley approach to the San Francisco-Oakland bridge, it was announced yesterday at Sacramento. Bids opened Nov. 15 have been rejected. The low bid was submitted by Heafey-Moore Co. and Jack Casson at $430,142.50. Bids under revised specifications will be received Dec. 6 by the State Highway Commission.

COMMISSION CALLS BIDS ON SIX NEW HIGHWAY CONTRACTS

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Bids will be received December 13 on six highway construction contracts, the State Highway Commission announced today.

Five of the contracts are for work in Northern California counties and the sixth in Los Angeles county.

The work on which bids are asked is located as follows:

TRINITY COUNTY: Grading and treating with fuel oil about 2.3 miles between 1.8 miles west of Burnt Ranch and McDonald Creek.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY: Grading and surfacing with screened gravel about 0.7 mile between Smith Point and Twin Tree Bridge.

MONTEREY COUNTY: Grading about 3.1 miles between Big Sur and 1.6 miles south of Molerias Ranch.

LAKE COUNTY: Constructing a reinforced concrete slab bridge across St. Helena Creek 0.3 mile north of Middletown, consisting of six 31-foot spans on concrete piers with steel pile foundations and concrete abutments with wing walls.

TEHAMA COUNTY: Grading and paving with portland cement concrete and bituminous treated crushed gravel or stone surfacing about 0.8 mile at Red Bluff.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY: Paving with asphalt concrete about 1.5 miles between Central avenue and Alameda street in Graham.

ROADS BUREAU HAS APPROVED 3,848 PROJECTS

Construction in Progress Nov.
11 on 1,653 NRA
Contracts

Progress on public works highway projects was reported by the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, on Nov. 11 at 3,848 road projects approved requiring an estimated expenditure of $219,741,000. These projects, it is expected, will furnish employment for 263,204 men. In the week ending Nov. 11 there were 263 projects approved.

Contracts had been awarded up to November 11 on 2,842 of the approved projects and construction was in progress on 1,653 of these. In addition to the contract work, construction is also under way on 423 projects on which the labor is directly employed and supervised by the highway authorities.

Analysis of the public works highway work in progress under the $400,000,000 of Federal funds authorized in the National Industrial Recovery Act shows the following classes of work: 1,307 projects on the Federal-aid highway system outside of municipalities; 607 projects on the Federal-aid highway system into and through municipalities; 816 projects on secondary or feeder roads; and 112 projects on national park, forest and public land highways.

To insure the reasonable distribution of the employment that will be provided by the highway work, the Federal Administration has required that projects be undertaken in at least 75 per cent of the counties of each State. Increase of employment is the primary purpose of the work. Subject to this fundamental consideration the character of the projects determined upon is based upon transportation needs. Emphasis is placed upon the elimination of railroad grade crossings and other traffic hazards, the filling of unimproved gaps in the main highway system, the improvement of main routes through cities, and the improvement of highway feeders to railroads and other transportation agencies.

Proposed Amendments To The State Basic Construction Industry Code

(NOTE: Mr. Hague was a member of the Committee on Codes which was appointed by the Construction League of California to draft a proposed State Basic Code. His extensive knowledge of building industry practice as Manager of the Associated General Contractors, Alameda County Chapter, and many years past experience, made him a valuable addition to the Committee.)

By WM. E. HAGUE

The delay in getting construction industry codes passed at Washington has seemed to force local action under the CRA in order that no further time be wasted. The proposed Basic Code for the Construction Industry of California, as presented through the Construction League of California, was based on the National Basic Code for the construction industry of the United States as now pending in Washington.

For many years past the building business has suffered from ruinous competition which has now brought it to a condition where it is almost impossible for a legitimate contractor to figure a legitimate price and pay his men a living wage.

When President Roosevelt introduced his "New Deal" and Codes to regulate industry the construction business at once seized upon this opportunity to clean house legally with the Government supporting the establishment of regulatory practices. National codes were presented at Washington by the nationally organized groups and some progress has been made.

Unfortunately the Basic Code as introduced by the Construction League of the United States has so far failed of actual approval; but as a regulatory document it has been greatly improved during the last two months. So much so that the Code as it now stands would seem to effectually deal with most of the bad practices which have become so prevalent in the industry. This latest form of the proposed National Code offered so many improvements over the previous form that the Code Committee of the Construction League of California decided to present the changes in the form of amendments to the Code as originally filed.

Therefore, when the proposed Basic Code for California was presented before Deputy Commissioner Michel on the 6th inst, the original code and the proposed amendments were presented jointly. In taking this action the committee felt they would be presenting a much stronger code than the original document and one that would be strictly in line with the proposed national code as it stands at this time.

Should the national code be approved in its present form the proposed State CRA Code would be superseded by same, but since the two are synchronized no material change in the code form would be necessary. In the meantime, if the proposed code is adopted the construction industry of California can put its house in order without further delay.

At the hearing of November 6th it was encouraging to note that there was so little opposition to the proposed code. If some minor changes are necessary there should be little difficulty over their adoption.

I feel that the rules to cover "competitive bidding practices" proposed in the amendments (Article X1), cover many of the evils of the industry and should prove of great value. There are six cardinal provisions which should be included in a code: Hours, Wages, Peddling of bids prevention, Elimination of contract labor, Home builders to be classed as contractors and an effective enforcement agency.

In the proposed State Basic Code as submitted by the League all of these features are dealt with except that of wages; the question of wages being left to each craft to set up in their individual codes.

The Contractors License Department has been proposed as the enforcement agency. This state department has the necessary funds to carry on the work and is already in close touch with the contractors in all lines and its agents familiar with the problems of the industry. The license law itself is made a part of the code and thus an offending contractor is not only liable to the fine of $500 as provided under CRA and NRA, but is also liable to lose his license to do business as a contractor.

Following is the text of the most important proposed amendment to the code, a new article governing competitive bidding practice:

SECTION 1. (a) The term "competitive bidding" as used herein shall mean the submission before a definite predetermined time of comparable proposals by two or more invited persons to an awarding authority to execute a specific program of work, furnishing a definite service or supplying a material specifically required for a particular project at a stipulated price. This does not include furnishing quotations on standard products.

(b) The term "awarding authority" as used herein shall mean a member of the industry who may award contracts or purchase materials to be incorporated in the work based upon competitive bidding.

SEC. 2. (a) The practices commonly known as "bid peddling" or "bid shopping" are recognized as unfair and are prohibited. Bid peddling in effect means the offering by the bidder, prior to the making of an award, of a substitute bid or price lower than the one originally quoted without a commensurate decrease in the requirements of the job.

(b) Bid shopping in effect means the effort on the part of the awarding authority to induce a bidder prior to the making of the award to lower his original price without a commensurate decrease in the requirements of the job.

SEC. 3. (a) It is recognized that the preparation of a bid is a service involving an expense to the bidder and the inviting of an unreasonable number of bids is an economic waste, therefore, the awarding authority shall not invite an unnecessary number of bids.

(b) Only a limited number of alternate proposals shall be required in connection with any bid, and no alternate proposal of a bidder shall be considered by the awarding authority unless the privilege of alternate proposals is extended to all bidders.

SEC. 4. The awarding authority shall make available uniformly to all bidders plans and/or specifications or other requisite information which shall be sufficiently complete to enable the bidder to prepare a definite bid in accordance with the regulations herein provided for. He shall provide terms of competition which shall insure parity of standing to all bidders.

SEC. 5. The awarding authority shall not invite bids from a bidder unless he has demonstrated that he is competent technically and financially to perform the work, and the ability of a bidder to obtain a performance bond shall not be regarded as the sole test of such bidder's competency.

SEC. 6. No award shall be made at less than the bidder's original bid price. It is recognized that competition based solely on price is sometimes unfair and accordingly the awarding authority may make an award to a competitor other than the lowest bidder provided the award is made at such competitor's original bid price.

SEC. 7. The awarding authority shall designate a specific hour and place for receiving competitive bids. The bidder shall submit his bid prior to such time, and simultaneously shall file a copy of his bid with a designated depository. All bids to be submitted by sub-contractors shall be delivered to the contractor at least 24 hours prior to the time set for the receipt of the bid of said contractor by the awarding authority. Bids received after such time or from uninvited bidders shall be returned unopened. All bids shall be required to be signed by a duly authorized representative of the bidder and enclosed in a sealed envelope on the outside of which shall appear its identification as a bid for the particular job.

SEC. 8. The awarding authority shall not at any time prior to the specified time for the receipt of bids convey to any bidder information relating to the price or terms of any other bid in order to influence the price or terms of such bidder.

SEC. 9. There shall be no collusion between the awarding authority and the seller, nor between the different sellers in the preparation of any bids; nor shall the awarding authority use any bid which he has reason to believe is at or below cost, but where this question arises the purchaser must give the seller the opportunity of demonstrating by cost sheets or other methods the correctness of the bid that he has submitted if he desires its consideration.

SEC. 10. The awarding authority shall make an award or reject all bids for the principal contract with the owner within twenty (20) days after the stipulated time for the receiving of bids unless extension of time is agreed to by the bidder. In the case of bids conditioned upon the award of a previous contract, each succeeding awarding authority shall make an award or reject all bids within thirty (30) days after the award of such previous contract unless extension of time is agreed to by the bidder. The right to reject any or all bids is reserved to the awarding authority, and such rejection shall be made in writing. Where all bids are rejected, bids shall not be again invited or submitted for the mere purpose of obtaining a lower or revised price or prices for substantially the same work previous to the lapse of ninety days from the date of such rejection, except there be a substantial change in the plans and/or specifications, or except there be such a marked difference between the bids submitted and the awarding authority's estimate as to the valuation of the work as would indicate to the awarding authority and his code authority the necessity of new bids in order to secure fair competition.

SEC. 11. The awarding authority may require the list of sub-contractors whom the contractor intends to employ for any particular division of the work to be submitted before the award of this particular contract.

SEC. 12. The awarding authority shall not accept rebates, refunds, discounts or other special allowances or services from a bidder unless made by the bidder in his original bid.

SEC. 13. Supplemental codes may provide that as a condition precedent to making a bid, bidders shall require an owner or any other person who exercises functions corresponding to an awarding authority as herein defined but who otherwise would not be bound by this Code of Fair Competition expressly to agree to comply with the regulations governing an awarding authority provided herein.

SEC. 14. (a) In order to enforce the practice of fair competitive bidding, all supplemental codes shall include provisions for the enforcement of this article.

(b) The supplemental code authorities shall designate suitable depositories for filing duplicate bids and make such rules and regulations providing for the filing, opening, tabulating and distributing of duplicate bids as may be deemed necessary by their respective divisions of the industry.

School Earthquake Design Law Does Not Prescribe Materials

The State Architect is authorized only to supervise structural design of school buildings and is not required to recommend fire-resistant materials, under the legislative act for protection of schools from earthquake damage, according to an opinion rendered by Attorney-General U. S. Webb.

The opinion was given at the request of State Architect George B. McDougall.

The text of the opinion follows: "Chapter 59, Statutes 1933, is an act relating to the safety of design and construction of public school buildings, providing for the regulation, inspection and supervision of the construction, re-construction, or alteration of, or addition to, public school buildings, etc., etc.

"You ask whether your department is authorized by said Act, in approving plans for proposed construction or repair work on school buildings, to take into consideration not only safety as against vertical and lateral forces but also against fire hazard. You say that, while the language of the Act may not be specific as to fire hazard, it is the judgment of your Division of Architecture that public school buildings cannot be safe as required by the Act unless reasonable requirements as to fire resisting materials and construction, as determined by the Division of Architecture, are met. You call attention to the fact that in Section 2 of the Act it is provided that before letting any contract or contracts for school construction work the written approval of such plans 'as to safety of design and construction, by the Division of Architecture, must be first had and obtained.'

"You further call attention to the fact that in Section 7 it is provided that the State Division of Architecture has full power and authority and it shall be its duty to make inspection of such school buildings and of such work of construction, etc., as in its judgment may be necessary or proper for the enforcement of the provisions of the Act 'and the protection of the safety of the pupils, the teachers and the public.'

"In Section 8 of the Act it is provided that upon the request of the board of trustees of any school district, or at least ten per cent of the parents having pupils enrolled in said school district, the Division of Architecture shall make an examination and report 'on the structural condition of any public school building,' etc., etc.

"I am of the opinion that the provisions of this Act do not authorize the Division of Architecture to make requirements as to fire-resisting materials and construction in the matter of school buildings. This is particularly made clear by the language of Section 9 declaring the Act to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, within the meaning of Section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution. This Section 9 reads as follows:

"This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect.

"The facts constituting the necessity are as follows: The series of earthquakes occurring in the southern portion of the State has caused great loss of life and damage to property. The public school buildings, constructed at public expense, were among the most seriously damaged buildings. Much of this loss and damage could have been avoided if the buildings and other structures had been properly constructed. The school buildings which will be erected, constructed and reconstructed to replace the buildings damaged or destroyed by the earthquakes should be so constructed as to resist, in so far as is possible, future earthquakes. These buildings will be erected, constructed and reconstructed at once and accordingly it is necessary that this act go into immediate effect in order that the lives and property of the people will be protected.

"This language declares with no uncertainty that the purpose of the act is to prevent a recurrence of damage to school buildings from earthquakes. Particular reference is made to the necessity for proper construction 'to resist, in so far as is possible, future earthquakes'."

PWA REQUIRES CONTRACT BIDS

Extension of the Everett, Washington, municipal water supply pipe line must be done by contract if Federal public works funds are used, the city council has been informed by E. R. Hoffman, state WPA engineer.

The city had requested that it be allowed to carry on the work by day labor and was awaiting a decision before starting the project.

Plans and specifications are being revised by the water department and bids probably will be called within two weeks. Olin M. Sprague is manager of the water department.

CONFER NATIONAL HIGHWAY AWARD

The American Association of State Highway Officials, the American Road Builders' Association, and the Highway Research Board of the National Research Council announce the conferring of the Geo. S. Bartlett Award upon Honorable James H. MacDonald, former State Highway Commissioner of Connecticut, and for many years Treasurer of the American Road Builders' Association. The presentation will be made at the annual meeting of the Highway Research Board on Dec. 7, 1933. This Award is made in recognition of meritorious achievement in highway development.

ASK $15,600,000 RFC LOAN FOR SPAN TERMINALS

State Plans to Construct Electric Line on Bay Bridge

Immediate application to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for $15,600,000 to defray the cost of interurban electric train installations and terminals on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge was recommended to State Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly and the California Toll Bridge Authority yesterday in a resolution adopted by the Financial Advisory Committee.

"The Committee was unanimous in support of the policy that the State must build an electric bridge line that will take passengers back and forth for a fare no higher than that now charged commuters," Harrison S. Robinson, President, stated.

It was resolved that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation be requested to purchase California Toll Bridge Authority bonds to the extent of $15,600,000 to finance a bridge electric train system which will be operated publicly or by either the Key System or Southern Pacific, or both.

"Preliminary negotiations with the Key System and Southern Pacific," Robinson said, "have as yet produced no working plan for transportation of commuters over the bridge.

"Chief Engineer Purcell and his staff have, however," Robinson continued, "completed computations and surveys to a point where it is established, first, that a modern convenient commutation service with terminals can be provided for $15,600,000, and second, that a capital investment greater than this amount would entail increased transbay fares which State Director of Public Works Kelly and the Financial Advisory Committee oppose as unwise.

"We are therefore recommending that the California Toll Bridge Authority ask for the sum of $15,600,000, and further assure the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that an investment of this sum will result in a modern transbay transportation system for either private or public operation."

The meeting of the Financial Advisory Committee was attended by Harrison S. Robinson, Leland W. Cutler, George T. Cameron, C. H. Purcell, Charles O. Conrad, E. B. DeGolia, R. M. Fitzgerald, R. H. Glassley, E. Clarence Holmes, and Joseph R. Knowland.

Copies of the resolution will be sent by Chief Engineer Purcell to Governor James Rolph Jr., as head of the California Toll Bridge Authority, and to Director of Public Works Kelly.

The Finance Advisory Committee also took under consideration the proposal to increase the cost of the San Francisco cable anchorage for architectural embellishments.

EQUIPMENT MEN GET NATIONAL CODE

A national code of fair competition for the Shovel, Dragline and Crane Industry was approved by President Roosevelt on Nov. 8.

In recommending the code for adoption the NRA reported as follows:

This Industry manufactures power-operated shovels, draglines, locomotive cranes, and the like, the product being largely used for excavating on public-works projects and in the building industry. The thirty companies employed 14,440 persons in 1929, but this number was reduced to an average of 4,100 during the low period of the first half of the year 1933. Since the application of the 40-hour week employment has been increased approximately 20 percent.

The increased wage scale under the provisions of this Code is expected to add 15 percent to the pay rolls of the industry at its present rate of operation. The annual sales of the products of the industry have dropped from $77,800,000 in 1930 to $4,833,000 for the first six months of 1933, and the industry is now operating at only 12 percent of capacity. In working out and accepting its Code, this industry has shown a spirit of cooperation with the purposes of the Act.

DENY TWO S. F. MEN LICENSES

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 23.—Application of two San Francisco concerns for state contractors' licenses today had been denied by Colonel Carlos W. Huntington, state registrar of contractors, on the grounds that the petitioners had failed to prove good reputation and integrity.

Action of the registrar followed formal hearings and investigation of complaints filed against the pair.

The Western Terrazzo & Mosaic Company, San Francisco, of which George Rouland is the owner, was denied a license on the ground that the firm had previously accepted five contracts, without obtaining a license, as well as a result of protests filed by Louis J. Glicksberg, attorney for the San Francisco Terrazzo Assn., it was announced.

Evidence indicating that Jesse Shay, 725 Tehama St., San Francisco, entered in to a secret agreement with his partner, Francis Stephens, whereby they would each submit individual bids on projects, one lower than the other and then carry out the contract on a partnership basis resulted in his license application being rejected.

Shay, according to evidence submitted to Registrar Huntington, encouraged his workmen to speed completion of a project ahead of time, on the promise of a $50 bonus which he allegedly failed to pay.

Witnesses also charged that he failed to protect his workmen with compensation insurance.

LUMBER ORDERS AT U. S. MILLS REACH PEAK

Production Under Code Control Not Affected By New Business

Lumber orders booked at the mills during the week ended Nov. 11, 1933, were the heaviest of any week since May, 1930, and were 2½ times those of corresponding week of 1932. Production was only slightly above that of the preceding week, otherwise the lowest since the week ended July 8, according to telegraphic reports to the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association from regional associations covering the reports of leading hardwood and softwood mills. The reports were made by 1,389 American mills whose production was 174,894,000 feet; shipments, 169,597,000 feet; orders, 311,662,000 feet. Production of 22 British Columbia mills also reported by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association was 13,683,000 feet; shipments, 9,588,000 feet; orders, 17,275,000 ft.

All regions reported orders above production during the week ended November 11, total softwood orders being 87 per cent above output and hardwood orders being 26 per cent above hardwood production. Total production during the week was 44 per cent above that of corresponding week of 1932; total orders were 135 per cent above similar week of last year. All regions shared in the gain in new business over last year, the West Coast Association showing the most spectacular rise of three times the order volume of the corresponding week of 1932. Northern hardwoods were the only group whose reported shipments were lower this year than last, Northern Pine the only one reporting lower production than last year.

Unfilled orders at the mills on November 11 were the equivalent of 19 days' average production of reporting mills, compared with 15 days' a week ago and 15 days' a year ago.

Forest products carloadings during the week ended Nov. 4 of 22,976 cars were 913 cars below the preceding week, 5,574 cars above the same week in 1932 and 377 cars lower than the same week of 1931.

Lumber orders reported for the week ended Nov. 11, 1933, by 752 softwood mills totaled 278,202,000 feet, or 87 per cent above the production of the same mills. Shipments as reported for the same week were 143,951,000 feet, or 3 per cent below production. Production was 148,407,000 feet.

Reports from 659 hardwood mills give new business as 33,460,000 feet or 26 per cent above production. Shipments as reported for the same week were 25,616,000 feet, or 3 per cent below production. Production was 26,487,000 feet.

WILLIAMS, Ariz.—The Well & Engineering Co., Pueblo, Colo., has submitted a detailed report on the two possible sites to be considered as a source of water supply for Williams. The total cost of the Dog Town wash development, including the required rebuilding of the present system, is estimated at $119,657.90, which would be reduced to $87,023.92 if loan is granted on a 30-70 basis. Construction of a water system at West Cataract Creek would cost $100,987, with a F.P.W.A. loan reducing this to $73,445.18. The engineers favor the Dog Town wash site because of the larger run-off, its location on forest land, and it would be a gravity plan, making the installation of a power pump unnecessary. It is also said the upkeep and ultimate cost of this site would be less, although the initial outlay would be greater than that required by the West Cataract site.

SANTA CLARA COUNTY, Calif.—The Board of Supervisors of Santa Clara County has set Jan. 5, 1934, as the date for an election on a proposal to form a water district in the Cupertino-Fremont area. Residents of the district propose to establish their own water supply system.

CRESCENT CITY, Ded Norte Co., Calif.—The Crescent City city council has authorized an application for a loan and grant of $300,000 from the Federal Public Works Administration to finance a municipal light and power plant and a municipal water system. L. C. Lake is mayor.

REDWOOD CITY, San Mateo Co., Cal.—Until Dec. 4, 3 P. M., bids will be received by the Redwood City city council for extensions to the municipal water system in the Emerald Lake District, involving:

- (1) 6200 lin. ft. 8-in. cast iron pipe;
- (2) 1,000,000-gallon reservoir, concrete lined.

Bids are to be received by the City Manager up to 3 P. M., for opening at 8 P. M. Estimated cost, $20,000. Plans and specifications obtainable from D. E. Myers, City Clerk, City Hall. C. L. Dimmitt, city engineer. Work is financed in part by PWA funds.

VISALIA, Cal.—Visalia city council has instructed City Engineer J. J. Philippe to submit report on a preliminary survey of the proposed municipal water system. The report is expected at the Dec. 4 meeting of the council. Councilmen voted against employing consulting engineers until the preliminary survey had been made.

BRAWLEY, Imperial Co., Cal.—The City of Brawley has applied to Federal Administration of Public Works for a loan and grant of $223,000 to finance the construction of a water filtration plant and water mains. Bonds in the amount of $65,000 for the plant and $158,000 for the mains were authorized at the bond election Oct. 27.

Koebig & Koebig, 821 Rowan Bldg., Los Angeles, consulting engineers, have completed plans for the work.

SUIT HALTS STATE HIGHWAY BID OPENING

Test of Alternate Bid Law Instituted on Solano County Contract

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 29.—Opening of bids on the Solano county grading and paving contract, one of the largest highway jobs on today's schedule, was stopped by a suit filed by a Kern county taxpayer to test validity of new state legislation requiring bids on alternate specifications for asphalt and cement concrete paving.

State Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly announced at the time set for opening bids that proposals on this contract would not be opened due to a suit filed by W. L. Landsborough of Bakersfield. Mr. Kelly stated that the plaintiff is attempting to test the validity of law enacted by the last state legislature which provides for taking alternate bids on two types of paving.

Mr. Kelly said that his department had proceeded in the past under recommendations of highway engineers as to the type of pavement considered best suited to the job. He deplored the fact that the court action in this case would delay the Colano contract, making it necessary to re-advertise the contract. He said he would be glad to enter a test case on a smaller highway contract if it were sought by any individual or organization, but urged that such action be arranged on a project that would not interfere with the state highway construction program.

The Solano county contract is one approved by the Federal government and financed by NRA money, Mr. Kelly asserted. The contract calls for paving with asphalt concrete about 3.3 miles between 4.2 miles north of Fairfield and 0.6 mile south of Vacaville.

The thirteenth annual meeting of the Highway Research Board will be held in Washington, D. C., at the building of the National Academy of Sciences and National Research Council on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 7 and 8, 1933.

U. S. BUILDING INCREASES S. F. MONTH'S TOTAL

Private Work Total at Level of Last Year; Residential Contracts off

San Francisco building permits for November exclusive of public works totaled $498,910. The monthly report of the building department includes the contract for the new San Francisco Federal Office building at $2,521,993 and $540,726 for other public building, making a grand total of permits issued for the month, $3,561,629.

The total for November last year was $4,800,290, including $4,043,412 for portions of Golden Gate bridge contracts in San Francisco county.

Private building in the past month compares favorably with October and with November a year ago.

This is due to four permits for Class A building, aggregating $201,500 in value. Permits for dwellings are less than half those of November a year ago both in number and value and are off about fifty percent from October, also.

Following are the comparative totals for the months of November, 1933 and 1932:

Class	Nov., 1933		Nov., 1932
	No. Pmts	Est. Cost	No. Pmts	Est. Cost

EXPERTS TO AID PWA APPLICANTS

To help cities get PWA applications in shape 25 expert service men are being put into the field under the supervision of the American Municipal Association, according to Paul V. Betters, executive director of the association and recently appointed by Secretary Ickes as liaison man between the PWA and cities. Arrangements have recently been made for state leagues of municipalities to give legal aid and advice on PWA applications.

S. F. ANCHORAGE OF BAY BRIDGE 20% COMPLETE

Transbay Company Sinking Two Caissons at Pier Site

With the employment on the bridge construction in the Bay area increasing to 2100, work progressed rapidly on all fronts during the past week, according to the report filed by Chief Engineer C. H. Purcell with State Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly.

Rincon Hill, San Francisco

While tons of steel eyebars arrived ready to be placed in the concrete anchorage for the cables, pouring of concrete on the huge an-crogae itself was pushed last week by Healy-Tibbitts Const. Co.

A total of 1700 cubic yards of concrete was placed in the San Francisco anchorage, bringing the total to date to 13,800 cubic yards, or approximately 20 per cent of the ultimate amount of concrete in the anchorage.

West Bay Substructure

In the west bay, Transbay Construction Company continued writing engineering history by the successful sinking of the two compressed air flotation caissons, one of which is the largest ever undertaken.

At Pier 4 the largest caisson of the bridge has now been in place more than two weeks, and 5,000 yards of concrete has been placed within its walls around the cylinders. The cutting edge at the bottom of the caisson is now 50 feet below the water on its way to rock, expected to be found at 180 feet below the waterline. This week the structural frame of this huge caisson around its 55 compressed air cylinders will be built up another lift.

At Pier 6, the first bridge pier west of Yerba Buena Island, the cylinders, domes, and outside walls of the caisson have been raised to a height of 123 feet above the cutting edge, of which 80 feet is below water.

CWA Outlines Projects Eligible For New $400,000,000 Financing

Projects eligible for grants under the $400,000,000 Civil Works Administration have been described by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins as follows:

Highways: The civil works division may carry on necessary highway work which is not being done under the regular budget of the state or municipality or provided for by the Bureau of Public Roads or the PWA. Work on highways should not be merely an attempt to provide jobs. Its use has too often been a carry-over from the time when work on roads was the traditional form of poor relief.

Roadways: Reclaiming public lands for highway purposes, brush cutting, shoulders, retaining walls, curbs, filling, grading, leveling, paving, resurfacing, clearing highway obstructions, concrete and masonry construction, bridge and underpasses, sidewalks, pathways and parkways, trees, shrubbery, planting and trimming, materials for highways, quarrying and crushing stone, rock excavating, digging, dredging, piping sand and gravel for road and street work.

Traffic: Erecting, repairing, painting traffic signals and lamp posts, constructing conduits for cables for traffic and road lighting systems; erecting, repainting and painting traffic signal markers, and traffic lanes; building parking spaces, traffic circles, view cut-outs; snow removal; traffic research.

Water Supply: Projects of the civil works division on public water systems are advisable when the labor cost is a major factor of the total cost of the project. This is especially true in the improvement of watersheds, the clearing of land for reservoirs, and manual labor in connection with the laying of mains. Major projects, especially where the other-than-labor costs are greater than 15 per cent of the total cost are discouraged as coming under the domain of the PWA. 1. Watersheds—clearing, filling, cutting fire lanes, planting and trimming trees, clearing tributary stream beds, lakes; 2. Reservoirs—clearing, cleaning, building and repairing dams and dikes; 3. Waterworks—repair of plant, landscaping grounds, digging wells, and auxiliary water supply systems; 4. Distribution system—repairs and extensions.

Sanitation: Wherever possible, sanitary operations should be of a country-wide nature. Communities may make a civil works project of a survey of their sanitary condition to determine the adequacy of sanitation before beginning sanitation projects.

Parks and playgrounds: Work should be of an extraordinary character that could not be carried in the normal budget. Only such construction should be undertaken as can be used and cared for by civil works division workers still in service, determined by the normal expectancy, after the present peak of unemployment has subsided or by the regular budgeted labor supply. 1. Reclamation and repair of grounds; 2. Thoroughfare construction 3. Recreation facilities such as pools and bathing beaches, tennis courts, rinks, athletic fields, baseball diamonds, fireplaces, camping sites, shelters; 4. Equipment such as benches, tables, swings, drinking fountains, comfort stations, band stands, hot houses, boat houses, outdoor theaters, tool houses, garages, stables.

Land Improvements: 1. Filling and leveling and clearing lots, dumps, abandoned canals and other areas, the ultimate utilization of which is unknown; 2. Flood control and waterfront improvements—retaining walls, jetties and breakwaters; erecting, repairing and painting municipal docks and wharves; dredging, filling and riprapping on rivers, streams, lakes and ponds; 3. Public monuments and historic sites—clearing, painting, repairing, marking and mapping (cf. "professional"); 4. Range improvements—building drift fences, corrals, cattle guards and dipping vats.

Utilities and structures: A great deal of extraordinary work in the repair and maintenance of public institutions can be carried on by the Civil Works Division. This includes work on airports, armories, baths, bridges, canals, cemeteries, city halls, community centers, court houses, docks, firehouses, garages, hospitals, homes for aged and indigent, libraries, lodging houses, markets, museums, orphanages, police stations, repair shops, sanitariums, schools, stables, storehouses, toolhouses, workshops. The actual projects on these properties may be in the nature of minor repairs or extensions that cannot be done under the PWA and that cannot be carried on under the depleted budget of the governmental unit: 1. Concrete work, roofing, plumbing, gas, steam, painting, plastering and stucco work, shoring, moving and wrecking old structures, salvaging; 2. Installation of fire alarms and other special equipment; 3. Servicing, cleaning, portering, sign painting, attendants and watchmen.

Plant disease and pest control: Tick eradication by dipping, poisoning and quarantining; mosquito extermination by draining, oiling, stream clearing and other malaria control measures; rodent control by eradication of rats, prairie dogs and gophers; plant control by eradicating ragweed, poison ivy, artichoke-thistle; and other projects for controlling plant and animal diseases.

Professional: Projects to provide employment for the professional man for whom suitable relief is seldom provided include laboratory work, such as water and soil analysis; additional inspectors to locate illegal electrical connections or water consumption; statistical surveys of a social, political or economic nature; studies to provide needed information on agriculture, traffic, sanitation, health and other conditions.

4,128 PROJECTS APPROVED BY ROADS BUREAU

Department Reports 276,000
Men to be Employed on
Contracts

Public Works highway projects under construction on November 18 total 2,305 as reported by the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture. The program as approved to November 18 includes 4,128 projects requiring an estimated expenditure of $232,634,000. These projects are expected to furnish direct employment for 276,000 men. During the week ending Nov. 18, there were 280 projects approved.

Contracts have been awarded or State construction authorized on 3,103 of the approved projects and contract construction is in progress on 1,833 of these. In addition to the contract work, construction is also under way on 472 projects on which the labor is directly employed and supervised by the highway authorities.

Analysis of the jobs awarded under the $400,000,000 of Federal funds authorized in the National Industrial Recovery Act shows the following classes of work: 1,820 projects on the Federal-aid highway system outside of municipalities; 938 projects on extensions of the Federal-aid highway system into and through municipalities; 1,202 projects on secondary or feeder roads; and 168 projects on national park, forest and public land highways.

Increase of employment is the primary purpose of the public works highway projects. Wide-spread distribution of employment is assured by the Public Works Administration requirement that projects be undertaken in at least 75 percent of the counties in each State. Subject to the requirement of widespread employment, transportation needs control the character of the projects. Emphasis is placed upon the elimination of traffic hazards, filling in gaps in the main highway system, the improvement of main routes through cities and the development of feeders to railroad and other transportation agencies. Among additional desirable projects are the widening of inadequate road surfaces, construction of sidewalks, and landscaping and planting roadsides.

Winter construction for the benefit of unemployed men is provided for by special provisions in the contracts requiring prompt beginning and continued work during the winter months.

NRA CODE FOR ROCK AND SAND FIRMS EFFECTIVE

California - Nevada Region
Meeting Called at Fresno
December 4

The crushed rock, sand and gravel and slag industry of the country is now operating under an N.R.A. code which was signed by the President on November 10 and became operative November 21. The code sets up an optional open price policy and provides for regulation of new production facilities by requiring approval of new plants and extensions of existing plants by a regional committee.

For administrative purposes the country is divided into 16 regions, California and Nevada comprising Region 15. Producers of this region will meet at the California hotel, Fresno, December 4 to select a regional committee consisting of 4 to 10 members. The following temporary regional committee has been appointed to serve until a permanent committee is chosen: Garvin Pelsue, Graham Bros., Long Beach, chairman; Hanson S. Blake, Blake Bros., San Francisco; Charles M. Cadman, Pacific Coast Aggregates, Inc., San Francisco; F. J. Twaits, Consolidated Rock Products Co., Los Angeles, and W. F. Blaikie, Imperial Rock Corp., Los Angeles.

Under the code a 40-hour maximum work week (except for certain classes of employees, few in number, for which a 48-hour week is permitted) and minimum wages ranging from 40 cents an hour in northern states to 25 cents an hour in the deep south, are established. Workers paid on an hourly basis will receive time and one-third for over-time work.

The minimum hourly wage rate fixed for Arizona is 30 cents; for California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah, Nevada and Wyoming, 40 cents.

The code permits the adoption, at the option of district committees subject to the approval of the regional committee and of the Code Authority, of an open price policy as follows:

"No producer selling with a district described in paragraph (c) of this section shall sell any product at less than his prime plant cost thereof, plus 10 per cent. Such cost shall be computed in accordance with the standard uniform accounting and costing system for the industry in which the producer is engaged and shall include all items of cost exclusive of return on capital invested, interest on borrowed capital, depreciation, depletion, administration, selling costs and reserves."

The code requires that in districts where the policy is adopted, all producers shall file with the district committees at least five days in advance of their effective date, all prices, terms and conditions of sale.

Lumber Mill Order File Still Reflects Rush To Beat Code

Due largely to purchases in anticipation of the minimum prices now going into effect, lumber orders received at the mills during the week ended November 18, 1933, as well as those of the preceding week were the heaviest booked since 1930, this week's record surpassing any week since October, 1930, and the preceding week, since May 30.

Production during the week ended November 18, was only slightly heavier than during the three preceding weeks and fell considerably short of any third-quarter week of 1933, according to telegraphic reports to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association from regional associations covering the operations of leading hardwood and softwood mills. The reports were made by 1,372 American mills whose production was 182,522,000 feet; shipments, 164,610,000 feet; orders 273,549,000 feet. The previous week's orders were 315,884,000 feet, with production of 178,783,000 feet. Production of 22 British Columbia mills also reported by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association was 14,205,000 feet; shipments, 9,013,000 feet; orders, 20,792,000 feet.

All regions except the Southern Pine and Northern hardwoods reported orders above output, total softwood orders being 36 percent above production. Hardwood orders were more than twice output. The Southern Pine drop in new business was apparently a reaction from the recent buying in anti-pation of the establishment of minimum prices which became effective earlier than those of other regions. Southern pine and northern hardwoods were also the only regions where orders were less than during corresponding week of 1932. Total softwood orders were 92 per cent above those of a year ago; southern hardwood orders were nearly four times the 1932 record.

Unfilled orders at the mills on November 18 were the equivalent of 21 days' average production of reporting mills, compared with 15 days' two weeks ago and 14 days' a year ago.

Forest products carloadings during the week ended November 11 of 23,661 cars were 685 cars above those of the preceding week, 7,693 cars above those of similar week of 1932 and 790 cars above the same week in 1931.

The first report of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association reflecting trade conditions following the establishment of cost return prices under the national code was issued yesterday.

The 433 mills reporting orders showed a decrease from 189,000,000 board feet in the previous week to 129,800,000 feet, a dropping off of 60,000,000 feet, about the amount of orders received by all mills in a normal week during this fall. The week's new business of 129,800,000 feet is the highest since May. This is believed by the industry, however, to be a hold-over from the previous rush to secure bargains.

California Third in 1932 Lumber Production, Census Bureau Reports

Revised figures of lumber production in 1932 by the U. S. Census Bureau show total output of 10-151,232,000 feet which compares with 16,522,643,000 feet in 1931 and 36,886,032,000 feet in 1929. Washington, Oregon and California are leading states in 1932, California, as the ranking third state, displacing Louisiana and Mississippi, one of whom had held that position for ten years.

Southern pine and Douglas fir continue as leading species, the former in 1932 exceeding the latter by 6 percent and in 1930 by 15 percent; in 1931, fire production was reported as 5 percent above Southern pine.

On the basis of mill reports to the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association for the first 41 weeks of 1933, lumber production in 1933 will be approximately 13 billion feet, hardwood probably totalling somewhat over two billion feet and softwoods about 10,750,000,000 feet. In 1932 hardwood production was reported by the Census as 1,405,596,000 feet and softwoods 8,745,636,000 feet. All regions in 1933 will show substantial increase over 1932, the increase in the western regions probably being a little greater than in the South.

The report of the Lumber Survey Committee to the Timber Conservation Board, issued early this month, estimated lumber consumption in 1933 (including anticipated consumption during the fourth quarter of the year) as 13,700,000,000 feet or a billion feet above production, which is the probable net reduction in stocks in the country. The report indicates that manufacturers decreased their stocks by 1,200,000,000 feet; other advices indicate that yard stocks of retailers and other distributors made net addition to their stocks which had been in badly depleted condition,

U. S. BUILDING DROPS 7.4% DURING MONTH

Cities Report Decline in Permit Totals for Residential Work

Expenditures for building in the United States, as indicated by reports from 758 identical cities having a population of 10,000 or over, decreased 7.4 percent in October compared with September, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor.

The number of new residential buildings decreased 4.8 per cent while indicated expenditures for this type of structure decreased 39.9 per cent.

New nonresidential buildings increased 4.1 per cent in number and 2.2 per cent in estimated cost.

The number of additions, alterations and repairs to existing buildings increased three tenths of one per cent, while expenditures for these alterations increased 18.1 per cent.

Contracts awarded for Federal building operations during October totaled $14,489,933. Federal awards for construction projects of all kinds totaled over $134,000,000. Expenditures for all types of structures (except naval vessels and reclamation projects) financed from public funds, that is, public roads, river, harbor and flood-control projects, street paving, forestry, and water and sewerage work, increased in October as compared with September.

As compared with the year previous, October showed a decrease of 30.1 per cent in the number and a decrease of 20.9 per cent in indicated expenditures for new residential buildings.

New nonresidential buildings decreased 17.8 per cent in number and 20.2 per cent in estimated cost comparing October with the same month of last year.

The number of additions, alterations and repairs increased 9.5 per cent, while expenditures for this type of construction increased 28.8 per cent comparing the two months under discussion.

The number of family-dwelling units provided in new dwellings in these 341 cities decreased 29.3 per cent.

Permits were issued during October for the following important building projects: In West Hartford, Conn., for a school building to cost $235,000; in Newark, N. J., for a public utilities building to cost $1,500,000; and in Los Angeles, for factory buildings to cost $1,600,000. A contract was awarded by the Bureau of Yards and Docks, Navy Department, for a machinery and electrical shop in the navy yard Bremerton, Wash., to cost $575,000.

NEW BULLETIN REVIEWS STUDY OF SHELL COLUMN

The strength of a thin cylindrical shell as a column has assumed some importance to structural engineers because of the recent development of elevated storage tanks with radial-cone bottoms for which the standpipe functions as a column to carry part of the weight of the tank and its contents.

A thin cylindrical shell loaded as a column may fail either by instability of the wall of the shell which may not at all involve lateral distortion of the axis.

The object of the investigation described in Bulletin No. 255 of the Engineering Experiment Station of the University of Illinois, entitled "The Strength of Thin Cylindrical Shells as Columns" was to study the type of failure characterized by local wrinkling and to investigate the dependence of wrinkling strength upon variables of two kinds (1) physical properties of the material and (2) geometrical properties of the cylinder, such as length, thickness, radius, and end conditions.

The effect of these variables has been studied experimentally, and an attempt has been made to correlate the results with theory as developed by Southwell and others. The investigation was carried on in cooperation with the Chicago Bridge and Iron Works, who furnished the specimens and provided funds from which to pay the direct expenses.

The wrinkling stress indicated by theory was not reached in any of the tests at the failure of the specimen; the highest value obtained was about 60 per cent of the theoretical.

Failure was in almost all cases sudden, and accompanied by large vertical deformation. For fairly thin specimens having no great defects there was little, if any warning of impending failure.

As a result of the investigation a formula is suggested for the working stress to be used in designing thin cylindrical shells that function as columns for which the ratio of length to radius of gyration does not exceed 35.

For a limited time copies of Bulletin No. 255 may be obtained without charge by addressing the Engineering Experiment Station, Urbana, Illinois.

ASPHALT ROOFING CODE IS APPROVED

A national code of fair competition for the asphalt shingle and roofing industry was approved by President Roosevelt on November 6. A minimum wage of 15 cents an hour for employes in the Pacific Coast section is provided, with a 40-hour week for employes excepting in periods of seasonal demand.

SLIGHT GAIN IN MATERIALS DURING MONTH

U. S. Bureau Reports Prices up Nearly Twenty Per Cent From 1932

Continued strengthening of prices of brick and tile, cement, lumber, structural steel and other building materials during October caused an advance in the national price index of building materials of nearly one and one-half percent, according to the monthly report of the Bureau of Labor statistics.

Prepared paint and paint materials registered slightly declining prices.

The price index for the building materials group stood at 83.9 at the end of the month compared with 82.7 at the end of September, and 70.7 in October, 1932.

Metals and metal products as a whole continued on the upgrade due to further advancing average prices of agricultural implements, iron and steel products, and motor vehicles. On the other hand non-ferrous metals showed a general weakening of prices, while plumbing and heating fixtures remained at the September levels. The index for the group as a whole rose by more than 1 percent, standing at 83, compared with 82.1 at the end of September and 80.3 a year ago.

The plumbing and heating group index was 74.7 at the end of October, showing no change from September, but up from 67.5 compared with a year ago.

Following are the comparative figures in the building materials index for October 1932 and 1933:

Building materials	70.7	83.9
Brick and tile	75.3	84.6
Cement	79.0	91.2
Lumber	56.6	84.2
Paint & paint mtl.....	68.3	76.1
Plumbing & heating.....	67.5	74.7
Structural steel	81.7	86.8
Other bldg. mtl.....	80.00	87.1

POUR 204,000 YARDS CONCRETE AT BOULDER

Concrete placed in the dam and power house at Boulder Dam on the Colorado river during month of October amounted to 204,572 cubic yards, according to F. T. Crowe, general superintendent for Six Companies, Inc. This surpasses the record of 175,337 cu. yd. in September and brings the total to the end of October up to 630,271. The September yardage was distributed: dam and power house footings on face of dam, 167,407 cu. yds.; spillways, spillway and penstock tunnels, 7,930 cu. yds.

During the same period the average daily production of concrete was 6,262 cu. yds. and the maximum day's run on the dam was 7,883 yds. By the end of the month the dam had been raised about to the elevation where the maximum number of blocks becomes available for placing concrete.

Attorney-General Rules on CRA Bidding for State Public Works

Attorney-General U. S. Webb has forwarded State Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly a ruling on questions arising from bidding on state public works under the California Recovery Act codes. The questions asked by Kelly and the attorney-general's answers follow:

1. Have the approved provisions of the N.I.R.A. Construction Industry Code as to minimum wages and maximum hours superseded the provisions as to such matters of the Excavating and Dump Truck Contractors' code approved under the said supplement to the California Industrial Recovery Act?

(1). Under the National Industrial Recovery Act most industries signed what was commonly called the "Blanket Code." However, it has been pointed out that this is a misnomer and that the so-called "Blanket Code" is in reality not a code at all, but is an agreement entered into under Section 4(a) of the N.I.R.A., properly designated the "President's Re-employment Agreement."

See Section 16012 Prentice-Hall Federal Trade and Industry Service.

After such agreement has been entered into, the various industries, and in this instance, the Construction Industry, have submitted codes of fair competition to the National Administration for approval. Certain provisions contained in such code relating to hours and wages have been substituted for similar provisions contained in the original President's Re-employment Agreement as authorized by Section 13 of said agreement.

Chapter 1037, Statutes 1933 (Supplement to California Industrial Recovery Act) provides that whenever a national code is approved for a certain industry that code supersedes any state code for that industry and becomes the code for said industry in this state.

See Opinion 9844 rendered by this office on October 10, 1933, a copy of which is enclosed herewith.

Your first question is whether the provisions of the Construction Industry Reemployment Agreement containing the substituted provisions above referred to have superseded the state code as to such provisions.

It is only when a "code" has been "approved" under the National Act for that industry.

I do not believe that the President's re-employment agreement can be construed to be a "code" that has been approved and I am therefore of the opinion that a state code is not superseded by such reemployment agreement, notwithstanding that certain provisions of the proposed National Code have been incorporated into such agreement with the approval of the National Administration.

2. Has the approval of certain sections of the proposed Construction Industry code under the N.I. R. A. superseded the state code in its entirety?

(2). Your second question is answered by what has above been said.

3. Does the California Industrial Recovery Act and the supplement thereto (Chapters 1039 and 1037, respectively, Statutes of 1933) authorize the adoption of state codes of fair competition governing the operations of contractors on public works of the State of California, as well as their operations in private industry?

(3). It is the universal rule of statutory construction that a general statute is not binding upon the state and its agencies unless expressly included or unless the intent to bind them otherwise clearly appears. The provisions of Chapters 1037 and 1039, Statutes of 1933 do not expressly include the state so as to make the state subject to the provisions of any code of fair competition approved for a particular industry. However, we think that the intent to subject the state to such provisions in a proper case otherwise clearly appears.

Both of the statutes referred to specifically declare it to be the policy of the State of California to cooperate with and assist the National Government in promoting the rehabilitation of trade and industry and in eliminating unfair competitive practices.

Chapter 1039 provides that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, association or corporation to engage in business in violation of a code approved for the industry in which it is engaged.

It would seem to be an anomalous situation if the state were to take the position that a given industry must comply with its code when engaged in private enterprise but could disregard such code when engaged on public work. It would seem that to be consistent, government itself should take the lead in requiring persons with whom it contracts to comply with the code approved for the industry in which they are engaged if, by its terms, the code is applicable to them. We feel, therefore, that the state legislature contemplates as a general proposition that a code of fair competition approved under the National Act or the State Act for a given industry is to govern those coming within its provisions when engaged in public, as well as private, work.

In this connection I call your attention to the executive order of the President dated August 10, 1933 requiring contractors entering into contracts with the United States or any of its agencies or instrumentalities to comply with their respective codes.

4. Does the said California recovery legislation authorize price fixing provisions through codes?

(4) Your next question has to do with price-fixing through codes of fair competition. This question is one concerning which there has been considerable controversy. The California Recovery legislation does not expressly authorize price-fixing. It does, however, authorize codes of fair competition if such "codes are not designed to promote monopolies or to eliminate or oppress small enterprises and will not operate to discriminate against them" and providing also that such codes "shall not permit monopolies or monopolistic practices." Section 3, Chapter 1037, Statutes of 1933.

It may be that in order to effectively prevent unfair competition it might become necessary to invoke some form of price-fixing and we are not prepared to say that the same is not authorized where it is done without violating said Section 3 of Chapter 1037.

5. If such price fixing provisions are valid, is it lawful for me to award a contract to a bidder who, when competitive bids are called for, submits a bid lower than the minimum price fixed in the code?

(5). In your fifth question you ask whether it is lawful for you to award a contract to a bidder who, when competitive bids are called for, submits a bid lower than the minimum price fixed in a code.

I assume that by this you mean that the bid is based upon prices or figures for a given commodity or service below those set forth in the code.

The answer to this question, I think, lies in the fact that while you are charged with knowledge of what each code contains, since it becomes law upon approval, you are not charged with the duty of any code.

Under the law you are required to let the contract to the lowest responsible bidder. The bidder must post cash, a bond, or a certified check, as required by law, which is subject to forfeiture under certain circumstances.

If a contractor is under a code and fails to comply therewith he may be punished and may also be enjoined from continuing such non-compliance. The enforcement of these provisions, however, does not devolve upon you.

6. Are the provisions of Article 2 of the said Excavating and Dump Truck Contractors' Code to be construed to mean that the code does not apply to persons who have not become members of the Excavators and Dump Truck Owners' Association of Northern California, so that such non-members would not be bound by the provisions of the said code?

(6). Section 1 of Article 2 of the Excavating and Dump-Truck Contractors' Code relating to participation therein, provides as follows:

"Participation in this Code, and any subsequent amendment thereof, shall be extended to any excavating and/or dump truck contractor in the Northern Section of the State of California who accepts his share of the cost and responsibility, as well as the benefit, of such participation by becoming a member of the Excavators & Dump Truck Owners' Association of Northern California, hereinafter called the Association."

By the terms of that provision participation in the code is extended to those contractors who accept their share of the cost and responsibility of such participation by becoming a member of the Association. The intent of this section appears to be that participation in the administration and benefits to be derived as members of the Association is to be extended to those sharing the expense thereof.

Section 1 of Article 15 of the Code provides that the provisions thereof "shall govern all public and private excavating * * * work performed by any person, firm, copartnership or corporation within the Northern Section of the State of California," and that provision clearly shows that it was contemplated that all persons in the industry were to be bound by the provisions of the code whether they are members of the Association or not.

7. The following provision has been inserted in the special provisions of the state highway contracts recently awarded:

"(d) Construction Code. The contractor will be expected to comply with any code of fair competition governing the construction industry approved under the authority of the provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act, and any state statutes relating thereto, and any violation of such code or statute will be reported to the proper authorities."

Should this provision be regarded merely as a warning to the contractor that the Department may report violations, or can it be regarded, in case of failure to comply with any such code, as a breach of contract, authorizing the termination by the Department of the contractor's control over the work?

(i). The provision quoted in your seventh question to the effect that "the contractor will be expected to comply with any code of fair competition," etc., appears to be in the nature of a warning, it being merely a statement of what will be "expected" of the contractor. It is doubtful whether a failure to live up to those expectations would constitute such a breach of the contract as would authorize the termination by the Department of the contractor's control over the work.

AIR-CONDITIONING SALES INCREASING

Definite evidence that the air conditioning industry has passed the "growing pains" stage is given by the large number of buyers this year, according to the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

Business men appear to be very solicitous of comfort in their offices for they are the largest class of buyers of air conditioners, a summary of Westinghouse sales reveals. A trial has proven to these executives that they can do more and better work when they are not inconvenienced by eccentricities of the weather.

U. S. CHAMBER HOLDS WESTERN MEET DEC. 3-4

Business Executives to Convene At Sacramento For Recovery Study

With the general theme "Steps Ahead in National Recovery," the tenth western divisional meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States will convene in Sacramento on Sunday evening, Dec. 3, for a two-day series of general sessions and round table discussions Monday and Tuesday on topics of interest to business generally.

Approximately 1500 business executives from Pacific Coast communities are expected to attend, in addition to an imposing array of guest speakers from the middle west and east. Among those who have accepted invitations to speak are Henry I. Harriman of Boston, president of the National Chamber, speaking on "General Recovery Problems"; James A. Farrell of New York, chairman National Foreign Trade Council, on "Foreign Trade Problems"; and Fred W. Sargent, of Chicago, president of Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co., on "Government Financial Problems." Other prominent speakers on the program include Paul Shoup, head of the Southern Pacific Company; Frederick J. Koster, president California Barrel Company, Ltd.; Oscar Sutro, general counsel for Standard Oil Company of California; C. C. Teague, president, California State Chamber of Commerce; Wallace M. Alexander, Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd., and others. Topics to be discussed include: Trade Relations with Russia; Our Relations with the Orient; The Industrial Outlook; The Present Gold Situation; Taxation and General Expenditures; Public Works and Public Ownership; The Agricultural Adjustment Act, and National Defense. The Lumber and Petroleum codes, and future mining policies will also be taken up.

Headquarters will be maintained at the Hotel Senator. Conference sessions will be held in this hotel, the Civic Auditorium and the Masonic Temple. The sessions begin Sunday evening, December 3, and will be brought to a close on Tuesday afternoon, December 5. Special railroad rates are in effect for business men planning to attend. Hotel reservations may be arranged thru the local Chamber of Commerce.

ISSUE WEEKLY CODE REPORT

A weekly report on "Movement of Timber Products" to the Divisions, has been undertaken by the Lumber Code Authority.

RECONSTRUCTION OF FOUR CITY SCHOOLS ORDERED

Engineers Making Earthquake Survey of Fourteen Other Buildings

With three city schools definitely closed, and four more expected to be closed within the week, the Board of Education declared yesterday that it will continue the 'earthquake hazard' survey to fourteen other San Francisco schools. The buildings will be remodeled where necessary to conform with the recent structural standards set up by the state law.

The schools already closed and the structural changes recommended by the Board and their approximate cost are:

Girls' high school, entire replacement of masonry, $114,000.

Redding elementary school, 50% replacement of masonry, $68,400.

John Swett junior high, entire replacement of masonry, $36,700.

The auditorium of the Daniel Webster school was also ordered closed with the cost of masonry replacement being set at $11,650.

Lowell high, Bay View, Commodore Stockton, and Washington Irving are the four other schools which will be immediately examined by structural engineers.

Repair plans and specifications for structural changes in steel frames to withstand lateral stresses and entire replacements in masonry work in the condemned schools are now being prepared. These will first be approved by the Board of Education, then sent to Sacramento for examination by the State Bureau of Architecture.

Contracts for the work will be advertised as soon as plans are approved.

Joseph Marr Gwinn, superintendent of Schools, announced the actual work in repairing and altering the buildings will not commence until the first of next year.

The closing of the schools followed a survey by structural engineers who recommended changes necessary, to bring the buildings into conformity with recently enacted legislation providing that all schools throughout the state must be 'earthquake resistant,' President Philip Lee Bush pointed out.

The other schools to come under the investigation include the Columbus (original building), Excelsior, Golden Gate, Jean Parker, Laguna Honda, Washington, Hancock (original building) and the Spring Valley (original building).

The engineers conducting the investigations are Earl Cope, H. J. Brunner, L. H. Nishkian and Walter L. Huber, all employed for the Board of Education by the Department of Public Works.

CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY AWARDS

Following is a tabulation of date of all contracts (exceeding $10,000) awarded by the California State Highway Commission since October 1, 1933:

Constructing Authority	Contract	Contractor	Bid	Date Awarded
California Highway Commission	Undergrade crossing, Sacto. Co.	Lord & Bishop, Sacramento	$ 86,871.70	Oct. 2
California Highway Commission	9.5 miles grading and surfacing, Del Norte County	Youdall Const. Co. & Chas. Harlow, S. F.	$678,799.00	Oct. 2

MONTEREY COUNTY, Cal.—S. Westcott Plumbing & Electrical Co., Soledad, Calif., at $2497 awarded contract by the State Highway Commission, Division of Highways, District V, San Luis Obispo, for constructing 7.2 miles of property fence in Monterey County, between Gonzales and Soledad.

ALAMEDA COUNTY, Calif.—Until December 15, at 3 P. M., bids will be received by the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission, Room 287, City Hall, for constructing a 44-in. diameter welded steel pipeline from Calaveras Dam, about 8½ miles southerly from the town of Sunol, Alameda Co., to the Alameda Creek Siphon, on the Hetch Hetchy Aqueduct, a distance of approximately 30,000 ft. Estimated cost, $350,000.

The pipe to be used for the construction of this line is to be obtained by removing as much of the 44-in. portion of the existing Newark-San Lorenzo Pipe Line as will be required.

The work includes, also, the construction of an 8-foot diameter horse-shoe shaped concrete lined tunnel, trestle bents and piers to support the pipe above ground and across creeks, structures appurtenant to the pipe line and certain permanent roads.

The Calaveras Pipe Line will be approximately 30,000 ft. long, of which a section about 1000 ft. long will consist of a double line of 44-in. pipes, making a total of approximately 31,000 ft. of pipe line required to be installed. Approximately 27,000 ft. of the line will be in trench and 3,000 ft. on piers. The balance, or approximately 1,000 ft., will be either in tunnel or on piers and trestle bents, depending upon whether the line is constructed under Proposition A, B or C.

Pipe above ground and across creeks will be supported on trestles, consisting of concrete piles, concrete piers, steel trestle bents or a combination of these.

During the periods of low stream flow in the Calaveras Creek, a maximum of 90 million gallons of water will be released daily from Calaveras reservoir for San Francisco's water requirements. The trestle bents which have to be constructed under water will be supported on cast in place concrete piles.

In order to make the pipe line accessible for construction and maintenance, the excavation for certain permanent roads is to be done under this contract.

The Newark-San Lorenzo Pipe Line, from which the pipe is to be obtained, extends from Newark, about 13 miles in a northerly direction to San Lorenzo, all in Alameda County. The southerly 34,720 ft. of this line is constructed of 44x½-in. pipe, the balance being 36x¼-in. pipe. Of the 44-inch pipe, there is approximately 30,150 ft. which is laid on ground, 11,180 ft. laid on blocking and timber trestles, and 3,390 ft. buried under road crossings, spur tracks and other places.

The pipe to be removed, in addition to that required for the construction of the Calaveras Pipe Line, shall include approximately 1200 ft. of 44-in. pipe and 600 ft. of 36-in. pipe, which are to be delivered either to the San Francisco Water Department's corporation yard at Sunol, or to the Alameda Creek Portals of the Hetch Hetchy Aqueduct. All timber trestle and wooden blocking are to be removed from the portion of the Newark-San Lorenzo Pipe Line which is to be dismantled, appurtenances other than manholes are to be removed and all trenches remaining after removing buried sections of pipe, shall be back-filled.

Alternate tunnel locations are provided for in three separate propositions, as follows:

(Proposition A): A tunnel approximately 1,060 feet long and on a grade of 6.7%.

(Proposition B): A tunnel approximately 520 feet long and on a grade of 7.9%.

(Proposition C): A tunnel approximately 450 feet long and on a grade of 0.9%.

$165,309,000 NRA HIGHWAY WORK AWARDED

Projects Underway on Nov. 25
Represent 50 Per Cent
Of Fund Voted

Completion of 59 public works highway projects up to November 25, at a cost of $1,301,000, is announced by the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in a tabulation of highway construction. This work was completed under the Public Works Administration highway fund allotment provided for in the National Industrial Recovery Act.

Awards on 3,266 projects at a cost amounting to $165,309,000 have been made, out of a total of 4,239 projects advertised for contract amounting to an estimated expenditure of $213,551,000. On November 25, the work advertised for contract or started by day labor employed by the highway authorities represented 50.1 per cent of the $400,000,000 provided for highways by the Public Works Administration under Section 204 of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

Highway work under construction by the States under Section 204 was employing directly on highway work a total of 134,805 men on November 25, the Bureau of Public Roads reports. This force of men was divided between contract and day labor as follows: 100,512 men on 1,890 contract projects and 34,293 men on 533 projects on which the labor is directly employed by the highway authorities.

The estimated total cost of the work under construction on November 25 was $129,060,000, of which $116,525,000 was by contract and $12,535,000 was by day labor employed directly by the highway authorities.

Awards have been made on 77 per cent of the projects approved by the district engineers of the Bureau of Public Roads, and construction is actually under way on 57 per cent of the approved projects.

A. G. C. CHAPTER TO MEET DEC. 15

The annual meeting of the Associated General Contractors, Northern California chapter, will be held in San Francisco on December 15, Floyd O. Booe, secretary-manager, announced yesterday. Many men prominent in the construction industry will be on the program for addresses during the all-day meeting, Booe said. Directors for the new year will be elected at the annual business meeting which will be a part of the session. A banquet and entertainment program is being arranged for the evening. The entire day's meeting will be held in the roof lounge of the Clift hotel.

$274,687 BID IS LOWEST FOR APPROACH WALL

Joint Offer by Two Contractors
Made on Bay Bridge
Job

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 6—Low bid on the construction of a rock retaining wall along the approach road from Berkeley to the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge was submitted by Fredrickson & Watson and Basalt Rock Co., bidding jointly at $274,687.

The contract involves placing 227,000 tons of rock, having been readvertised under new specifications after previous bids had been rejected. It is the second contract let for bridge approach construction, an award having been made already to the American Dredging Company for placing dredger fill and grading on the 4.1 mile right-of-way into Berkeley. The American company was low bidder at $869,063.

Architects of Northern California are invited to participate in a design competition conducted by the City of Paris, San Francisco. The subject is an eight-room model house. Sketches are to be submitted before January 5. One entry will be accepted from each architect. Prizes will be awarded by a committee selected by the store.

ROAD BUILDERS PLAN FIGHT FOR GASOLINE FUNDS

Tendency Toward Diversion
From Construction Will Be Opposed

The financing of an economically sound highway program in the next few years will occupy a position of major importance at the annual convention and road show of the American Road Builders' Association which will be held in the Hotel Stevens, Chicago, during the week of January 22.

Although a planned road building and improvement campaign forms the backbone of the Public Works project, state and municipal highway officials view with alarm the tendency of the last two years to divert road money to other and less profitable budgets, said Charles M. Upham, Engineer-Director of the American Road Builders' Assn.

Revenues derived directly from the highway user, formerly used almost exclusively for the construction of modern, safe roads and streets, are being diverted into other channels at an ever-increasing pace.

"From 1928 to 1931 inclusive, the total amount of revenue derived from gasoline taxes and registration fees increased steadily. In 1932 and 1933 there has been a steady decline due to general business conditions. In spite of this decline, however," Mr. Upham said, "the amount of diversion in 1932 was nearly 100 per cent over 1931 and the available figures for this year indicate that the next diversion figures will show more than 100 per cent additional."

One of the factors which raises most doubts in the minds of the officials who see their highway departments' programs dwindling is the fact that not only is the new construction program sharply curtailed, but a large part of the regular, unyielding maintenance needs must necessarily be neglected. In some sections improved roads have been so neglected that they must be rebuilt at a far greater price than regular care would have cost. The latest available figures show that 150,000 miles of roads in the state highway systems require reconstructing.

REVOKE STATE LICENSE OF L. A. BUILDER

Failure to Carry Compensation Insurance Brings Action

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 28.—Accused of wilful negligence in failing to carry compensation insurance to protect his workers, one of whom was injured, the state contractor's license of Harry T. Grundy, 2707 S. Harvard Blvd., Los Angeles, today had been revoked.

The license was ordered unconditionally revoked by Col. Carlos W. Huntington, registrar of contractors, following a formal hearing and investigation conducted by Referee I. L. Swearingen.

L. A. Harris, 2211 South Highland Avenue, Hollywood, complaining witness, testified he suffered a fractured skull when he was struck on the head by a plank falling from a scaffold while employed by Grundy on a construction job at 2619 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles.

According to evidence filed with Registrar Huntington, Harris was confined in a hospital for several weeks, and prevented from returning to work for four months. He recently obtained a judgment for $165 against Grundy from the industrial accident commission. However, Grundy has already paid his hospital bill and a part of the doctor bills.

"There should be no excuse for the failure of a contractor to protect his workmen," declared Huntington.

"A contractor who does not protect his men with compensation insurance is not playing fair with his men, nor with his competitors, because he can submit a lower bid on any project by dodging the insurance premium. It is also a violation of the spirit of the President's fair competition agreement.

"We intend to continue to rigidly enforce provisions of the contractors act requiring builders to protect their employees. In this case, the cost of the insurance would have been far less than the amount Grundy has already paid in hospital bills for Harris. A builder failing to carry adequate insurance jeopardizes his employees and their dependents, as well as his own standing in the industry," he said.

Steel Institute To Publish New Manual of Construction

The following is a description of contents and scope of the new Manual of Steel Construction now in preparation by the American Institution of Steel Construction.

The mills producing wide flange sections have recently issued catalogues showing a revised and standardized series. As these catalogues show only the dimensions and properties of these sections it was necessary that the institute prepare at once a revised manual in which the details and allowable loads will be given.

The manual committee was appointed early in May, 1933, and its first meeting was held on May 18, at which time the scope, contents and arrangements were discussed and tentatively agreed upon. This committee consists of P. A. Blackwell, chief engineer, Virginia Bridge & Iron Co.; G. H. Danforth, contracting engineer, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.; V. E. Ellstrom, manager of sales engineering, Bethlehem Steel Co.; Jonathan Jones, chief engineer, McClintic-Marshall Corp.; Richard Khuen, Jr., chief engineer, American Bridge Co.; J. R. Lambert, chief engineer, The Phoenix Bridge Co.; F. T. Llewellyn, consulting engineer, U. S. Steel Corp.; Robt. A. Marble, structural engineer, Carnegie Steel Co., and F. H. Frankland, A.I.S.C. As the committee was faced with the necessity of producing a new manual, practically rewritten in its entirety, within the space of a few months, the effective method of doing the work by assignments was resorted to, wherein specific items were worked up by the committee members and their assistants. At times upwards of fifty engineers have been simultaneously engaged in this work.

Many important users were consulted by the committee and from the suggestions received the Manual has been recast as to form, size and to a great extent as to contents. The book is divided into five parts, so that Part I gives the dimensions and properties of steel structural products, the balance of the book furnishes information on how to use these products safely and efficiently. Part II furnishes structural details; Part III, allowable load tables; Part IV, specifications, and Part V, miscellaneous data commonly useful in structural engineering.

The structural details given in Part II embrace a mass of information now standardized for the first time and never before published. This data will be invaluable to designing engineers and will aid materially in realizing the benefits accruing to all concerned by the standardization of structural details.

Part IV will include the A. I. S. C. Standard Specification, the A. I. S. C. Code of Standard Practice, the A. I. S. C. Fireproofing Specifications, the A. S. T. M. Standard Specifications for Structural Steel for Buildings and for Bridges, and the American Welding Society's recently revised Code for Fusion Welding and Gas Cutting of Structural Steel for Buildings. The American Society for Testing Materials has approved three new tentative specifications for steel for bridges, steel for buildings, and for mild steel plates. The specifications for both bridges and building steel provide for a minimum yield point of 33,000 lbs. per sq. in., an ultimate tensile strength of 60,000 to 72,000 lbs. per sq. in. The specification for mild steel plates covers a grade of steel comparable to the existing standard structural grade and, as the material will not be used for bridges or buildings, it will not be included in the Manual. In the new bridge and building steel specifications there are a number of changes, such as special requirements for rolled base plates over 2 in. in thickness for bearing purposes. These must be of open-hearth or electric-furnace steel, of 0.20 to 0.35 per cent carbon. Physical tests are not required for this material. The new specifications also exempt from tension tests flat rolled steel 3/16-in. and under in thickness, shapes less than one sq. in. in cross-section, and bars, other than flats, less than 1/2 in. in thickness and diameter. The minimum elongation in 8 in., minimum per cent, in the new bridge steel is 1,500,000 divided by the tensile strength, and for the building steel, 1,400,000 divided by the tensile strength. The bridge steel must be made either by the open-hearth or electric-furnace processes, and the building steel may be made by one or more of the following processes: open-hearth or electric-furnace or acid-bessemer, but in the latter specification steel plates and shapes over 7/16-in. in thickness which are to be punched must be made by either or both the open-hearth or electric-furnace processes.

Recognition by the committee of the growing need for making readily available to users of the Manual authoritative information on welding led to the decision to incorporate the American Welding Society's recently revised Code for welding steel.

SET RECORD PLACING GATE BRIDGE STEEL

Ten Percent of Marin Tower
Erected in Less Than Week

More than 5,000,000 pounds or approximately 10 per cent of the Marin tower steel of the Golden Gate bridge was in place yesterday after less than a week's work on the site, marking a new world record in steel erection.

During the past week 1,070,000 pounds of Marin tower steel was shipped from the eastern fabricating plants, bringing the total shipments of Marin tower steel to date to 33,408,000 pounds. This represents more than 78 per cent of the structural steel for the Marin tower.

At the same time word was received from the eastern foundries of the McClintic-Marshall Corporation, steel superstructure contractors, that all of the cable saddles for the Marin tower have been cast. This represents in the neighborhood of 680,000 of castings.

From the Trenton, New Jersey, plant the John A. Roebings Sons Company, cable contractors, advices have been received by James Reed, general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, that more than 10 per cent of the galvanized steel cable wire, or approximately 4,538,000 pounds has been drawn, tested, accepted and stored.

In the meanwhile work has been rushed in preparation for a second start on the fender for the south pier of the bridge. Four structural steel frames of fender units are in readiness to be placed in position. A total of 22 units will be required to complete the fender wall.

Work on the caisson for the south pier is progressing rapidly at the plant of the Moore Drydock Company in Oakland. The man locks have been installed on the caisson and the material shafts are being assembled and welded. Work on the cable anchorages on both sides of the Golden Gate has progressed rapidly during the past week, 9,264 cubic yards of concrete having been poured. This brings the total concrete used in the entire project to date to 112,432 cubic yards, approximately 31 per cent of all concrete required in construction of the bridge.

General Manager Reed reported that the average number of men per day employed upon the bridge proper during the past week was 349. This is exclusive of men employed in quarries, cement manufacturing plants, steel mills and other industrial organizations producing materials to be used in the bridge.

COSTS REDUCED IN NEWARK BUILDING

Short cuts in construction to bring costs to a minimum have been employed in the erection of a block of low-rent apartments exclusively for negroes of Newark, N. J. Some of the methods are described by the "Business Week" current issue as follows:

Long life with low maintenance was one requirement. This resulted in determination on reinforced concrete structural frame, concrete slab floors, concrete sectional walls, brick block exterior, cast stone ornamental spandrels.

Floor concrete was laid on plywood forms which stripped so evenly that lower surfaces were perfectly smooth, making ceiling plaster unnecessary. A neutralizer and a finish coat of paint gave an attractive ceiling. A special hardwood flooring is employed. It consists of 9-inch hardwood squares with metal tongues which are driven firmly into grooves of the next unit. They rest on a cork and mastic composition. Result is a floor which contracts and expands as a unit, which refuses to buckle or wave. Windows have no counterweights. Instead Unique Window Balances were used. These are light spirals which work inside a cylinder allowing the sash to be raised or lowered to any point. The installation did away with the hauling and handling of 42 tons of window weights.

Arrangement of the six buildings is unusual. Three units are in rows, each consisting of a 6-story building flanked by 2 of 5 stories. Between is a playground 147 ft. wide. The rows are without courts or angles, insuring light and privacy. Nearly every apartment has a cross-draught. There are no elevators.

NEW PRICES SLOW ORDERS FOR LUMBER

Reduction in New Business
Seen as First Effect of Code Operation

Lumber orders booked at the mills during the week ended Nov. 25, 1933, were lowest of any week of the last ten with one exception; production was slightly heavier than during the preceding three weeks, according to telegraphic reports to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association from regional associations covering the operations of leading softwood and hardwood mills. The big drop in orders from the preceding two weeks indicates a cessation of the heavy buying anticipatory of the establishment of minimum prices, which went into effect during the month. The reports were made by 1,449 American mills, whose production was 183,954,000 ft.; shipments 167,502,000 ft.; orders, 161,030,000 ft. Orders of the previous two weeks had been 315,884,000 ft. and 280,676,000 ft. Report of 22 British Columbia mills during the week ended November 25 also showed decline in orders; their production was 14,449,000 ft.; shipments, 14,744,000 ft.; orders, 11,928,000 ft.

All regions except the Western pine, Northern pine and Redwood reported orders below output, total softwoods being 9 per cent below; hardwoods, 26 per cent below. All regions showed gain in new business over the corresponding week of last year except Southern pine, Northern hemlock and Northern hardwoods. Total softwoods were 26 per cent above those of last year; hardwoods, 9 per cent above.

During 47 weeks of 1933 to date, production was 27 per cent above that of the same period of 1932; orders were 20 per cent above the 1932 record.

Unfilled orders at the mills on November 25 were the equivalent of 20 days' average production of reporting mills, compared with 21 days' the week before and 14 days' a year ago.

Forest products carloadings during the week ended November 19 of 24,007 cars were 346 cars above those of the preceding week, 7,931 cars above those of similar week of 1932 and 2,780 cars above the same week of 1931.

Manufacturers of malleable castings operated at 28.4% of capacity in October, compared with 14.5% in the corresponding month a year ago. Production totaled 24,381 tons compared with 12,274 tons in October, 1932. Tonnage produced to date this year is 224,824, comparing with 143,729 in the same period last year.

Public Works to Cost $14,000,000 On City and County Special Ballots

Bond issues proposing $11,050,800 for buildings and other public improvements will be submitted to voters in various counties and cities of northern California at elections next week. The majority of the bond proposals contemplate an additional grant for the project of 30 percent of the cost of labor and materials from federal PWA funds. This will bring the total contemplated expenditure to approximately $14,000,000. All but two of the special elections will be consolidated with the state election Tuesday.

Of the proposed bond issues $8,295,800 is for schools and other public buildings. These include appropriations for courthouses, libraries, auditorium and hospitals. The largest engineering project is that of the city of Eureka, providing a bond issue of $925,000 to be increased by Federal grant to $1,131,000 for construction of a new water supply system. The city of Oakland will vote on proposals totaling $1,795,000 to be increased by 30% grants from the PWA to extend sewers, construct bridge approaches, create a high pressure system and develop playgrounds. The city of Fresno bond proposals include $35,000 for a storm sewer.

The largest building project is that of the county of Alameda, proposing $1,712,000 for a new county office building and courthouse. The county already has received approval of a grant of $462,000 in Federal money contingent upon the approval of bonds for this building.

Municipalities of Alameda county will vote on school bond issues as follows: Alameda, $448,000; Albany, $150,000; Piedmont, $233,000. The city of Oakland bond list includes $802,000 for building and furnishing a new central library and various branches.

San Francisco will vote on $3,000,000 for new schools, proposing to replace six frame buildings with fire and earthquake-proof structures, recondition four others and to erect the proposed George Washington high school and the Marina junior high school.

Fresno county will vote on a bond issue of $280,000 for a new hall of records. The county will ask $120,000 in Federal money to complete a $400,000 building. Stanislaus county proposes a $250,000 courthouse and San Luis Obispo county will vote on $200,000 for a combination courthouse and jail. Federal funds also are being asked to increase the total appropriation.

Fresno city buildings for which bonds are to be submitted include $375,000 for a municipal auditorium and $77,500 for a new fire engine house.

Four counties propose additional hospital facilities. Stanislaus county is submitting a bond issue of $247,000 for the county hospital; Madera county, $70,000; Yuba county, $55,000; San Luis Obispo county, $21,000.

Analy Union High School District in Sonoma county, will vote on $200,000 to be supplemented by a $45,000 Federal grant for a high school building.

Coalinga Union High School District will vote on Monday on a bond issue of $150,000 for a new high school building, swimming pool and miscellaneous improvements.

Also on Monday an election will be held in San Mateo county on a proposal to authorize expenditure of $90,000 in surplus funds in the school district treasury to reconstruct San Mateo and Burlingame schools in compliance with state earthquake safety regulations. The proposed expenditure would be increased to about $120,000 by Federal grant.

TO SEGREGATE NEW SCHOOL WORK

Members of the Alameda city board of education are in favor of erecting the proposed new school buildings under segregated contracts, according to a statement by William C. Hitchings, president of the board. The city will vote on a bond issue of $448,000 for new buildings at the election December 19. According to Hitchings, the work probably would be divided as follows: brick work, lathing and plastering, plumbing, heating and ventilation, electrical, sheet metal, roofing, painting and general, the latter including excavation, foundation, concrete and carpentry.

ROAD BUREAU CHIEF REVIEWS YEAR'S WORK

No Appropriation Available to Federal-Aid Highway Construction

In place of the usual authorization of Federal-aid road funds, the last Congress provided, in the National Industrial Recovery Act, $400,000,000 for the construction of highways as a means of furnishing employment during the fiscal year 1934, says Thomas H. MacDonald, Chief of the Bureau of Public Roads in the annual report of the bureau for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933, submitted to the Secretary of Agriculture and made public in Washington today.

For the first time in 17 years, the fiscal year ended without definite provision by Congress for the continuance of the program of Federal-aid road construction.

The unobligated balance of all Federal-aid appropriations thus far authorized was reduced by projects initiated during the year to little more than $15,000,000 and of the special emergency appropriation of $120,000,000, made in July 1932, there remained for new projects only $3,000,000.

Employment during the fiscal year 1933 on Federal projects, the report states, amounted to 1,138,283 man-months, a gain, due mainly to the $120,000,000 emergency appropriation, of 577,673 man-months. Thus, employment was more than double the 1932 total. Winter employment on highway work was increased sharply. It was apparent that the greater total employment on all Federal and State highways in the summer of 1932, as compared with the summer of 1931, was due very largely to the Federal emergency highway appropriation.

Mileage of Federal-aid roads constructed in the fiscal year 1933 was less than in the preceding year but greater than in any other year. Projects completed totaled 13,255 miles, of which a total of 8,503 miles was new construction, 4,700 miles stage construction, and 52 miles relocation.

Mileage of highways completed with Federal-aid funds to June 30, 1933, was 107,869 of the total of 206,277 miles in the designated Federal-aid highway system. Nearly all of the remaining mileage had been improved to some extent by the States.

Forest highways—the more important highways through the national forests—are built by the Bureau of Public Roads. Of this class of roads, Mr. MacDonald reports a completion of 359 miles during the last fiscal year and a total of 5,593 to date.

Road construction in the national Parks, by agreement with the National Park Service, is supervised by the Bureau of Public Roads, and 174 miles were built in 1933, making a total of 674 miles thus far improved.

All field operations in connection with the reconnaissance survey of the proposed inter-American highway from Panama to the United States were completed before the end of the year and the report to Congress is in preparation.

Transportation, economic and statistical investigations were conducted in many states. A traffic survey in Michigan revealed that 50 per cent of all Michigan traffic is carried on the streets of cities, 17 per cent on township and county roads, and 33 per cent on the State highway system. Other traffic surveys were conducted in Indiana, New Jersey and in the regional area around Washington, D. C. Additional studies were made of traffic capacity and intersections, highway signs, uniformity in motor vehicle regulations, and taxation in Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois.

Careful studies of road construction as an employment measure were made to determine the amount of labor entering into each of the various road building and maintenance operations, and the variation of the labor element with the use of machinery. It was found that about 90 per cent of the taxpayers' road dollar was eventually paid to workers as wages and salaries and, in addition, many widespread industries received a financial stimulus. Other studies were made of rolled concrete pavements, concrete from central mixing plants, low-cost roadbuilding methods, grading operations, and highway accounting methods.

Physical research investigations cover a wide range and include studies of motor vehicle impact, concrete pavement design, concrete and concrete aggregates with regard to vibration, delayed finishing and other tests, highway bridge investigations, measurement of the roughness of road surfaces, bituminous materials and low-cost roads, and subgrades.

TUOLUMNE BOARD INCREASE WAGES

Tuolumne county board of supervisors has voted to increase the prevailing wage for labor on county projects, effective January 1, 1934. The new scale sets the following rates: common labor, $4.00; truck drivers, tractor operators, gradersmen and jackhammer men, $5.00. The former rates were $3.60 and $4.50, respectively.

BERKELEY ASKS $4,361,287 FOR SCHOOL WORK

Federal Public Works funds totaling $4,361,287 as asked in a petition filed by the Berkeley board of education for completely rehabilitating the city's schools, most of which have been condemned as faulty under the new state law fixing minimum earthquake resistance for public buildings.

A total of $1,755,716 is asked for the high school district in a loan of $1,374,987 and a grant of $380,729, and a total of $2,605,571 is asked for elementary schools in a loan of $1,930,772 and a grant of $674,799.00.

The applications state that the work consists of structural reconditioning and rehabilitation of existing school buildings and the construction of new buildings to replace those that have been condemned and are beyond possibility of reconstruction for safety of pupils.

In the elementary school project, the application states in part: "There are several reasons why this project is extremely urgent and absolutely necessary. From the information at hand, the lives of approximately 11,000 school children are in danger, due to the type of construction that was permitted by previous building codes which did not take into consideration the lateral forces caused by earthquakes.

"The apprehension felt and realized by the Board of Education, its officials and the citizens of Berkeley is such that following the information now at hand from the investigation of the prevailing conditions it will be necessary for the Board of Education to immediately vacate four large brick buildings and house the pupils of these buildings in temporary quarters such as tents and portable single room school buildings. These alone involve the safety of 3,065 pupils attending these four, whose lives are in immediate danger, should an earthquake of even moderate intensity occur in this vicinity.

"With the exception of two elementary schools, many of the remaining buildings were built 42 years ago and not only are they obsolete but extremely dangerous, because of earthquake, fire and panic."

The application for the high school district is worded similarly, stating in part that it will be necessary to vacate four large brick buildings used for senior and junior high school classes and that they involve the safety of 3000 pupils.

Bay Bridge Approach Among Ten Jobs Advertised For January 3

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 12.—In the largest opening scheduled since last September the State Highway Commission today advertised ten contracts on which bids will be received on January 3, the first bid opening of the new year. Included in the work advertised today is the construction of a section of the Eastbay approach to the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, consisting of 22 concrete piers and double-deck concrete spans.

The construction will include driving 1000 piles, placing 6180 yds. of concrete, 600,000 pounds of reinforcing steel, and other items.

Following is the complete list of contracts advertised

ALAMEDA COUNTY: Construct 22 reinforced concrete piers with timber piles, ten reinforced concrete spans for the lower deck highway and interurban traffic and six reinforced concrete spans for the upper deck highway in Oakland, immediately east of the Eastbay crossing of the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge.

FRESNO COUNTY: 0.8 mi. grade and pave with asphalt concrete in Fresno between California Avenue and Echo Avenue.

HUMBOLDT CO.: Construct a bridge across southfork of the Eel river at Smith Point, consisting of one 100-ft., one 120-ft. and 99-ft. plate girder spans and two 57-ft. reinforced concrete girder spans, one concrete pier and abutments.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY: 1.8 mi. grade and pave with asphalt concrete in Long Beach between the easterly boundary of the city of Los Angeles and Pacific Avenue.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY: Construct reinforced concrete bridge on Sunset boulevard across Glendale boulevard in the city of Los Angeles, consisting of a filled arch having a clear span of 90 feet.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY: Construct a bridge across Ramona boulevard at Lord street in Los Angeles consisting of two reinforced concrete slab spans 50 feet in length on reinforced concrete piers and reconstruct existing timber stringer spans on timber bents and concrete footings.

MENDOCINO COUNTY: 1.4 mi. grade and surface with gravel between McDonald and Yorkville.

SANTA BARBARA CO.: 2.1 mi. grade and surface with oil treated gravel between Santa Ynez river and Santa Ynez.

SANTA BARBARA CO.: 3.2 mi. grade and pave with asphalt concrete on a portland cement concrete base and with bituminous macadam surfacing on a crusher-run base in Santa Barbara.

VENTURA COUNTY: Construct overhead crossing, consisting of 9 40-ft. and two 58-ft. reinforced concrete girder spans and one 94-foot steel span over the tracks of the Southern Pacific Company near Ventura.

PIER ACCESS TRESTLE FALLS IN HEAVY SEA

Contractors Sustain Loss in Gate Bridge Work at Fort Point

Heavy seas battered down the contractors' access trestle on the site of the Golden Gate bridge south pier opposite Fort Scott late Wednesday, doing damage estimated unofficially at $100,000. Between 800 and 1000 feet of the trestle must be restored before work on the pier can be resumed.

The trestle carried railroad tracks for mobile cranes, compressed air lines, water pipe and electric conduits. Pacific Bridge Company, contractors on the pier, must stand the loss occasioned by the wrecking of the trestle.

Engineers for the bridge district informed the board of directors Wednesday that it probably would be necessary to authorize the contractors to proceed with excavation for the pier and fender to a depth of 35 feet beyond the original 65-foot depth fixed for the foundation. The additional excavation is covered in the Pacific Bridge Company contract to be paid for at $10,000 per foot, increasing the estimated cost of the pier by $350,000.

The following statement was issued by General Manager James Reed, of the Golden Gate Bridge & Highway District yesterday, after a survey of the damage to the working trestle at Fort Point:

"The tremendous battering effect of the storm waves at the San Francisco pier and fender location, as demonstrated by carrying away the working trestle last night, merely serves to emphasize the reasons advanced by Moran & Proctor, consulting engineers for the Pacific Bridge Company, and by the chief engineer and consulting engineers for the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District in their unanimous recommendation to the board of directors yesterday, to minimize all hazards during the construction period by increasing the depth and spread of the fender section and in modifying the order of procedure in their construction.

"The possibility of such increase of the fender depth was contemplated by the engineer in preparing the specifications of the contract, and a unit price covering this work, if it should be required, was bid by the contractor. This procedure is customary in all engineering works of this character.

"The trestle accident will not increase the delay occasioned by the modified fender construction program presented to the board."

A proposed bond issue of $500,000 for new school buildings has been deferred by the Salt Lake City board of education until next year.

EARNINGS GAIN DESPITE DROP IN EMPLOYMENT

Per capita is Larger For Construction Industry, Commissioner Reports

Employment in the construction industry in the state of California declined 18.1 percent during November, compared with the month preceding, according to a report yesterday by State Labor Commissioner Frank C. MacDonald. The decline in the San Francisco-Alameda region was 19.1 percent, according to reports from 55 firms.

Compared with November a year ago the month's employment was off 2.2 percent in the state as a whole, despite an increase of 19.1 percent in the Los Angeles area. San Francisco-Alameda reported a decline of 9.2 percent and the remainder of the state 37.4 percent.

Per capita weekly earnings gained 5.8 percent in November by comparison with October, although the total weekly payrolls were 13.3 percent lower. In the local region per capita earnings were up by 12.6 percent compared with October and total payrolls were off only 9 percent, considerably less than the state average.

Employment in the manufacturing industries of the state was 23.1 percent above November a year ago but 10.3 percent below the preceding month, MacDonald's report shows. A gain in average weekly earnings between October and November of 5.1 percent was indicated, although total weekly payrolls decreased by 5.7 percent.

$11,500 GIVEN FOR

STUDY OF CEMENT

A gift of $11,500 has been made to the University of California by the Santa Cruz Portland Cement Company for research in the properties of high-silica cements, the university regents announced yesterday. The gift was the largest single item in the month's list of gifts to the university.

To Employ Local Architects on Special Civil Works Projects

Employment for scores of architects, artists and draftsmen will be provided on special projects being prepared by the Civil Works Administration in California with the assistance of the American Institute of Architects and the California State Association of Architects, it was announced yesterday.

Announcement of the specific projects which are to be financed with CWA funds is expected before the end of the week.

Meanwhile the association has been authorized to register all unemployed men who can qualify for the type of work to be done. Those employed will be engaged for thirty hours a week until February 15 at a pay of from 85 cents to $1.10 per hour.

Albert J. Evers, president of the San Francisco chapter, A.I.A., and Chester Miller, president of the California association, have been appointed by the directors of their organizations to prepare various suitable projects to be submitted to the CWA.

Registration of unemployed who will be eligible for the proposed work will start immediately. Applicants residing in San Francisco should enroll at the offices of the state association in the Building Materials Exhibit, 557 Market St., or at the Re-employment Service Bureau, 857 Howard street.

Employment will be given in the counties in which the applicants reside. Alameda county residents should register at the State Employment bureaus at Tenth and Franklin streets, Oakland, or 200½ Grove street, Berkeley. Residents of other counties may apply at their local, state or federal employment offices.

The local works program will fit in with that outlined by Civil Works Administrator Harry L. Hopkins for the employment of skilled workers who are not fitted for the manual labor required on the majority of approved civil works.

The federal government plans to employ 20,000 workers, including 2500 mural artists and sculptors to decorate various public buildings. Architects, engineers and draftsmen will be similarly assigned to employment for which they are trained.

SUPERVISORS SET KINGS WAGE SCALE

Kings county board of supervisors has adopted a prevailing wage scale for county public works as follows:

Carpenters, 75 cents an hour.
Painters, journeymen, 75 cents an hour.
Painters, contractors, 95 cents.
Electricians, $1.00.
Plasterers, $1.00.
Bricklayers, $1.25.
Hod Carriers, 63 cents.
Plumbers, journeymen, $1.00.
Sheet Metal Wrokers, $1.00.
Steel Fitters, $1.00.

No figure was set for common labor.

SPEAKER TELLS OF PWA HOUSING PLANS UNDER NEW CORP.

The policy of the Public Works Emergency Housing Corporation was outlined by Frederick L. Ackerman, consultant to the housing division of the PWA, in an address before the conference on essential unemployment legislation meeting in Washington.

Mr. Ackerman said in part:

"The Public Works Administration will continue to loan on slum clearance operations and low cash housing projects sponsored by public bodies and limited dividend corporations.

"It is the intention of the administration to undertake the work through the Emergency Housing Corporation only upon invitation from local officials or groups of representative citizens or civic organizations, — where the Housing Corporation initiates local group and agencies will be utilized to the fullest extent possible, in the acquisition of sites, design, construction, and operation of the projects.

"By confining the work of the Emergency Housing Corporation, at the present time, to the clearance of slum dwellings and the production of a like number of low cost units, limited as to rentals and restricted as to occupancy to the low income group, the Administration can stimulate one of the basic industries and provide like or more employment for the sums expended."

TO DISCOURAGE PRICE "RAIDS"

Reports to the effect that retailers and large consumers are organizing "numerous companies" for the purpose of securing wholesale discounts have caused the Lumber Code Authority to caution its administrative agencies with reference to such possible raids on the minimum price structure.

"Please report immediately to this office," declares a bulletin to divisions signed by Ray Weiss, Trade Practices Department Chief, "all instances of this character coming to the attention of you and your members. Such reports should present all evidence possible to secure, as we consider collection of evidence of this character of the utmost importance. It is our purpose to vigorously enforce the provisions of Schedule B now in effect and we ask your cooperation, assistance and suggestions to accomplish this end."

STATE SECOND IN NRA ROAD CONSTRUCTION

Value of Contracts Underway Exceeded Only by New York, Survey Shows

California leads all states west of the Rocky Mountains in number of men employed on NRA highway projects and in value of contracts awarded, according to a report prepared by the Bureau of Public Roads as of November 25.

California ranks fourth in value of contracts awarded and second in value of work actually under construction, being exceeded only by New York. States with more work under contract are New York, Texas and Pennsylvania, ranking in the order named.

The Bureau reported a total of 2,423 projects under construction on November 25 with an estimated total cost of $129,060,000, of which $119,594,000 was from PWA appropriations. The number of men employed in highway construction was reported at 134,805.

The estimated total cost of work awarded on the same date was $165,309,000, of which $153,142,000 was from PWA funds, representing obligation of 38.9 percent of the $400,000,000 authorized.

WEEK'S LUMBER SALES DECLINE

A total of 489 down and operating mills which reported to the West Coast Lumbermen's Association for the week ending December 2, produced 83,372,824 board feet of lumber. This was a decrease of approximately 12,500,000 under the preceding week. The average week's production of this group of sawmills in 1933 has been 87,302,494 feet; during the same period in 1932 their weekly average was 66,980,244 feet.

The new business reported last week by 454 mills is 66,109,996 board feet against a production of 80,591,436 feet and shipments of 80,697,029 feet. Their shipments were approximately the same as production, and their current sales were under production by 18.0 percent. The orders booked last week by this group of identical mills were under the preceding week by 8,000,000 feet or 10.8 percent.

The unfilled order file at these mills stood at 436,107,753 board feet a decrease of about 17,000,000 feet from the week before.

The aggregate inventories of 130 mills are 3.1 percent less than at this time last year.

CONSULTANT NAMED

A. W. Quist of A. W. Quist & Co., Seattle general contractors, has been appointed consulting engineer for the Hawaiian Dredging Company, Honolulu, successful bidders on the $3,000,000 naval repair basin at Pearl Harbor. Mr. Quist expects to leave for the islands about March 1st.

Water Project and $5,000,000 Local Bond Issues Win at Special Election

The Central Valley water conservation and power project, entailing the largest construction program ever planned in Northern California, was placed a step nearer consummation Tuesday by approval at the special state election of an act creating the State Water Project Authority. This board, composed of five state officials, is empowered to proceed with the water development plan to be financed by revenue bonds. The estimated cost of two dams, power plants, transmission line and necessary canals to accomplish the authorized program is $170,000,000.

The Federal government will be asked to contribute 30 percent of the cost of labor and materials from PWA funds and to loan the balance of the cost on the revenue bond security.

Reports yesterday indicated that a group of municipal and county bond issues in Northern California on the special ballot were carried to authorize new building and other public works totaling more than $5,000,000.

The school building proposals in San Francisco were endorsed by the voters, providing $3,000,000 for construction of new buildings and necessary alterations and additions.

The city of Eureka carried a revenue bond issue by a vote of 6 to 1 providing for construction of a new water supply from the Mad River, entailing construction of a 115-foot dam, supply pipe line and storage reservoir. The estimated cost of the project is $1,134,000. Bonds totaling $925,000 were authorized and an application has been made for a PWA grant for the balance. C. C. Kennedy, Call Building, San Francisco, is consulting engineer on the project.

Fresno county and city voted in favor of bonds for a new county hall of records, a civic auditorium, and storm sewer. The issues together with expected Federal grants will total approximately $1,000,000.

Bonds for $70,000 were carried in Madera county to pay for a county hospital addition.

Alameda county voters, however, rejected every bond proposal on the ballot, blocking plans for approximately $6,000,000 in new construction. The proposal for a new county courthouse to cost $1,712,000, for which federal money already has been granted was lost by about a thousand votes. School building bonds in Alameda city, Piedmont and Albany were defeated. All public works issues in Oakland failed of the necessary two-thirds majority.

127,720 EMPLOYED ON NRA HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

Public Roads Bureau Reports Contracts Totaling $188,303,000 Awarded

Public works highways under construction by the states on December 9 were employing directly 127,720 men under the Federal Public Works appropriation provided for in Section 204 of the National Industrial Recovery Act, according to a tabulation of work in progress issued by the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This force of men was divided between contract and day labor projects as follows: 99,341 men on 1,989 projects let by contract and 28,379 men on 564 projects on which the labor is employed directly by the highway authorities.

The estimated cost of work under construction on December 9 was $141,795,000, of which $127,898,000 was by contract and $13,897,000 was by day labor employed directly by the highway authorities.

Awards of 3,699 projects at an estimated total cost amounting to $188,303,000 have been made out of a total of 4,808 projects advertised for contract involving an estimated expenditure of $233,989,000.

On December 9, the work advertised for contract or started by day labor employed by the highway authorities involved 54.8 per cent of the $400,000,000 provided for highways under Section 204 of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

There were 297 projects, involving a total expenditure of $7,337,000 reported by the Bureau of Public Roads as completed on December 9. Of these, 94 were completed during the week ending December 9.

LOCAL FIRMS LOW ON CANAL WORK

YUMA, Ariz., Dec. 20.—A combination low bid of $1,198,000 on Schedule 1 of the excavation for the All-American Canal in Arizona and California was submitted to the Bureau of Reclamation today by Henry J. Kaiser, Oakland, John Phillips Co., and Bechtel Bros., San Francisco. On Schedules 2 and 3 the low bids were offered by a combination of Utah Construction Co., Salt Lake City, Morrison - Knudsen Company, Boise, and MacDonald and Kahn, San Francisco. Their bid on Schedule 2 was $778,668 and Schedule 3, $793,063.

(A complete list of bids appears in the Advance Report section today.)

FAIRFIELD, Mont., Dec. 20.—Morrison-Knudsen Co., Boise, at $72,105 submitted low bid to the Reclamation Service here today for earthwork and drainage structures on the Greenfields Division, Sun River project.

Stanislaus county also rejected $497,000 in two bonds issues to finance a courthouse and an addition to the county hospital.

The proposed Yuba county hospital bond issue of $55,000 also was defeated.

Bonds for a new high school building, including a swimming pool, were voted by the city of Coalinga, Fresno county.

San Luis Obispo county defeated bonds aggregating $246,000 providing for a new court house, memorial hall and hospital addition.

OSSIAN CARR ON STATE PWA STAFF

Ossian E. Carr, former city manager of Oakland, has been appointed engineer inspector of all California projects toward which the Public Works Administration has advanced funds. The appointment was made directly by Administrator Harold L. Ickes.

DEMAND RETURN OF $5,000,000 HIGHWAY FUNDS

Contractors Condemn Diversion of Gas Money From State Treasury

Immediate return of $5,000,000 in gasoline tax revenues "borrowed" from the state highway funds is demanded in a resolution adopted at the annual meeting of the Northern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors in San Francisco Friday.

The resolution, addressed to the Governor, State Controller, Department of Public Works and Director of Finance states:

WHEREAS, the State Gasoline Tax is a privilege tax paid by motorists for the construction and maintenance of state highways only, and

WHEREAS, during the last year state officials have diverted millions of dollars of this revenue for other purposes against the wishes of our citizens as expressed in the November, 1932 and June 1933 elections, and

WHEREAS, this practice has the effect of retarding State highway construction which would give a great many persons employment in accordance with the President's Recovery Program.

THEREFORE, be it resolved that we, the Northern California Chapter of Associated General Contractors condemn this practice of diverting special funds and demand the immediate return of the five million ($5,000,000) dollars now diverted from the gasoline tax fund in order that more men may be put to work this winter.

The chapter also adopted a resolution endorsing the policy of Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly in opposing the extension of day labor methods.

The text of the resolution follows: WHEREAS, the policy of constructing public works by day labor is extravagant, slow and detrimental to public interest, and

WHEREAS, such governmental competition with private enterprise deprives established business institutions in the construction industry of their specialized business, and

WHEREAS, Mr. Earl Lee Kelly, Director of Public Works has in the public interest opposed all attempts to introduce this system on state highway work;

THEREFORE, be it resolved that we, the Northern California Chapter of Associated General Contractors heartily approve the firm stand which Mr. Kelly has taken for economy and efficiency and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That on behalf of the Construction Industry we express our appreciation to Mr. Kelly for his defense of the Contract system and that we pledge our support of his policies.

A third resolution commended San Francisco city officials, including Mayor Angelo Rossi, Chief Administrative Officer A. J. Cleary, Director of Public Works W. H. Worden, Manager of Utilities Edward G. Cahill and Nelson A. Eckhart, manager of the water department, for the efficient preparation of projects on which $20,000,000 in bonds were voted last November.

Three new directors were elected to the chapter board, succeeding three retiring members. The directors-elect are C. V. Isbell of the Isbell Construction Co., Carson City; H. S. Lord, of Lord and Bishop, Oroville, and Warren A. Bechtel, Jr., of W. A. Bechtel Co. They succeed Clyde W. Wood, John Phillips and K. K. Bechtel.

Reviewing the past year in his annual report, Secretary-Manager Floyd O. Booe said:

"As I look through this report of one year ago, we seem to have been worrying a great deal about some matters that have since become somewhat insignificant and the ill effects of which have been eliminated by that magic healer of all things—Time. In this connection I need only refer to one subject at that time was of paramount importance, and that was the state prevailing wage law on public works. How much more drastic and far-reaching, both in manner of regulation and in final effects, comparatively speaking, are the Federal laws and regulations regarding labor, which are now provided under the National Industry Recovery Act than anything we ever dreamed of one year ago and, strange to relate, under the national emergency, most of us have accepted these new developments very calmly, are proceeding with our work thereunder, there have been no ill effects and, incidentally, they have reflected no increase in construction costs, so far as contractors' bid prices are concerned.

ALAMEDA CHAPTER

MEETING TUESDAY

Alameda county chapter, Associated General Contractors, held their annual business meeting December 12.

The retiring president, S. G. Johnson, in his report on the conditions of the last year struck a note of optimism for the outlook for 1934 and highly praised Manager Wm.

E. Hague for his successful activity in promoting a future construction program of such large dimensions that the contractors of the East Bay may now feel assured of an active year for 1934. Among other undertakings President Johnson pointed out that the school building program alone now seems likely to run to over twelve million dollars worth of work. Although the voters have not yet taken action to vote the necessary bonds yet the situation seems favorable for a "yes" vote.

W. E. Lyons, H. J. Christensen and Geo. J. Maurer were unanimously elected directors for the 1934-1935 term. Mr. Maurer is now the vice-president of the chapter and has been taking an active interest in its activities during the past year.

Among the speakers at the Alameda County Chapter annual meeting was Floyd O. Booe, Manager of Northern California chapter. Speaking in an optimistic strain he prophesied that 1934 was certain to prove the best construction year this State has known for several years past.

W. G. Thornally, as chairman of the Building Promotion Committee, pointed out the great need of all lines of contractors pulling together to improve conditions and help the great prospective activity in building to be profitably carried out with fair wages and fair profits for all.

STATE LEAGUE PREPARING FOR NRA BASIC CODE

Organization to Incorporate Expecting Approval of
New Regulations

Word of approval of the NRA code for the construction industry is expected hourly by local agencies sponsoring the national code which is now in the hands of President Roosevelt.

Preparatory to announcement of the code the Construction League of California is being incorporated. William E. Hague, member of the code committee, announced yesterday. The California league organization will be modeled after that of the Construction League of the United States.

Mr. Hague said:

"Steps have been taken to incorporate the Construction League of California preparatory to the expected early approval of the pending code for the construction industry of the United States.

"Last Saturday President Roosevelt announced he would consider signing the Construction Industry Code this week and his final signature and approval is expected any day.

"We are informed that the Code finally approved will be that substantially proposed by the Construction League of the United States after many conferences between its member associations and also between a specially appointed committee which met with representatives of labor to confer principally on hours and wages.

"It is understood that this code now meets with as general approval from the various units of the construction industry as might be expected at this time when there is a great lack of effective organization largely caused by lacks of funds owing to the hard times.

"Some supplemental codes for leading professions and crafts of the industry are expected to be signed at the same time and are in conformity with the Master Code for the construction industry.

"Charles F. B. Roeth is president of the Construction League of California, and Floyd O. Booe is secretary."

COMPENSATION RATES INCREASE ON JANUARY 1

General Level to be Two Per Cent Higher, Broker
Reports

Compensation insurance rates effective January first in the building trades will show an average increase of about two percent over 1933 figures, according to a tabulation compiled by R. G. Guyett, insurance broker

The increases are due to heavier losses experienced by the casualty companies during the past year, Guyett said. The upward trend has been due to larger awards, increased medical charges and prolonged periods of disability, rather than because of greater accident ratio in the trades affected.

The rates listed below are those approved by the insurance commissioner for 1934, compared with the current rates:

	1933	1934
Cabinet work	3.23	3.41
Carpentry (shop only).....	3.23	3.41
Carpentry (N.O.C.)	6.63	7.09

FIX SCALE FOR WATER PROJECT

A wage scale has been fixed by the Fresno city commissioners for laborers employed on the water system for which the Public Works Administration has granted $25,500. The scale approved follows:

Pipe layers, 70 cents an hour; pipe layers' helpers, 60 cents; supply car drivers, 60 cents; laborers, 50 cents; concrete laborers, 60 cents; hot asphalt workers, 60c.

MATERIAL PRICES CONTINUE GAIN DURING NOV.

Group Up One Per Cent From Preceding Month; Further
Advance in December

Building materials registered the second largest advance in average price during November compared with October, the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics reports. Farm products showed the largest increase of any group.

Building materials advanced one percent during the month. Brick and tile, lumber, paint and paint materials and other building materials shared in the upward movement. Average prices for plumbing and heating materials moved downward while cement and structural steel remained at the same level as for October.

The index at the end of the month stood at 84.9 compared 83.9 in October and 70.7 for November, 1932.

The prices will show an almost equal advance during December from indications for the first two weeks. On December 16 the index was at 85.3.

San Francisco wholesale prices remained unchanged this week, but an increase in cement and ready-mix concrete is scheduled effective next week, according to local dealers. The new prices will be announced January 2.

Following is a comparison of principal material price levels for November and October as reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics:

	Nov.	Oct.
Brick and tile	84.7	84.6
Cement	91.2	91.2
Lumber	86.5	84.2
Paint & paint materials.....	76.3	76.1

NAME SUPERVISORS OF SURVEY WORK

Engineers interested in obtaining employment on the local control surveys of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey should apply to state supervisors in their locality for information. Following is a list of supervisors appointed in the western states:

Arizona: Dean G. M. Butler, University of Arizona, Tucson.

California: John S. Bates, 3134 Eton Ave., Berkeley.

Idaho: Prof. Ivan C. Crawford, University of Idaho, Moscow.

Montana: L. D. Conklin, Montana State College, Bozeman.

Nevada: L. H. Taylor, University of Nevada, Reno.

Oregon: R. H. Baldock, State Highway Engineer, Salem.

Utah: Prof. T. C. Adams, University of Utah Salt Lake City.

Washington: Prof. C. E. Magnusson, University of Washington, Seattle.

CALIFORNIA MAN ON NATIONAL COMMITTEE

Dr. Herbert E. Bolton of the University of California, is named as one of those selected by the director of national parks, buildings and reservations to a national advisory committee which will direct the survey of historic American buildings to be undertaken by architects.

Four members of the committee of seven were selected by the American Institute of Architects and are Dr. Leicester B. Holland, chief of the fine arts division of the Library of Congress; John Gav Meem, Santa Fe, N. M.; William G. Perry, Boston, and Albert Simons, Charleston, S. C.

The other three members, selected by the director of parks, are Dr. Bolton, Miss Harlean James, executive secretary of the American Civic Association, and Dr. Waldo G. Leland, executive secretary of the American Council of Learned Societies.

STEEL INDUSTRY TO GET WORKS BENEFIT IN 1934

Institute Reviews Allocation of PWA Funds To Recent Date

Some relief to unemployment in the farcated structural steel industry is expected during 1934 from the appropriations already "earmarked" for expenditure by the Public Works Administration, according to a statement issued by V. G. Iden of the American Institute of Steel Construction. From the nature of the allocation of funds so far made something like a half a billion every three months of next year will be going out for construction.

A movement is on foot to have Congress increase the appropriation for public works to $5,000,000,000 thereby adding at least $1,700,000,000 to the amounts previously authorized. In order to give a better picture of what is to be done with the money so far allocated, a tabulation of the sums is appended herewith. In addition to the $2,714,875,179 covered in this tabulation, Secretary Ickes has allotted $400,000,000 to the Civil Works Administration and probably $200,000,000 to other projects, thereby "earmarking" practically all of the first appropriation.

If the increased appropriation is made by Congress it seems assured that new public works will be starting next year to a total of at least $2,000,000,000. This assumption is based upon the expected lag between the time of making the allotment and the actual work on the project which varies from five to six months. Therefore the full effect of this great drive for new construction will be continued in industry for at least the next two years, during which time there should be a revival in private financing of private building projects.

NEWS-RECORD ISSUE ON BOULDER PROJECT

The current issue of "Engineering News-Record" (December 21) is devoted to articles on Boulder Dam construction. The group of contributors includes Dr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation, R. F. Walter, chief engineer, and Byram W. Steele, designing engineer on dams. Every phase of the project construction is discussed, reviewing progress particularly during the past twelve months.

Real Property Survey Will Employ 11,000 Under CWA Appropriation

More than 11,000 men and women will be taken from the unemployment rolls throughout the country within the next few days in carrying out the work involved in the real property inventory recently authorized by the Civil Works Administration.

Plans are well under way for this project which must be completed by February 15, according to an announcement by Willard L. Thorp, Director, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, who will supervise the work.

The first objective of the plan is to afford work for a large number of unemployed professional and technical men and women embraced in the "white collar" class throughout the country. It is expected that the program now being started will furnish jobs for 11,000 of these workers in more than 60 cities in the country.

In addition to putting to work immediately a large number of persons, there are many sound reasons for the immediate initiation of such a real property inventory on a national scale, in Mr. Thorp's opinion. It will determine clearly the present condition and adequacy of our housing facilities. This in turn will aid in the program of stimulation of the construction industries.

A special organization composed of technical men of wide experience has been organized in Washington to handle the project. The Bureau of the Census is undertaking the organization of the field work, drawing men from the unemployment rolls in the cities in which the inventory is to be conducted.

"The maintenance of balance in employment," said Mr. Thorp, "is the most important problem facing the country today; it is difficult to accomplish this end without detailed information on the many aspects of our economic system.

Business men must be able to act on knowledge as far as possible and not speculate about the steps they are about to take. In the real estate and building fields this is glaringly illustrated in many parts of the country, where there have been periodic phases of over-building, with no definite planning, no information as to whether or not there was a market for the buildings, whether population trends favored, or whether wages and salary totals were sufficient. As a consequence, we have often proceeded to a point far out of balance. This happened in enough communities to affect the entire country, a most important contributing factor to the depression."

Continuing Mr. Thorp stated that the real property inventory will go a long way towards remedying past difficulties, for it will afford actual knowledge of local conditions in detail, before any group of men embark upon a campaign of building or real estate development.

"This will be of equally great importance to the government in endeavoring to dispel the depression, he said. The great good to be derived from such a program will be lasting, and it is in line with the policy of the government to plan carefully for the future. It will enable private initiative, guided by real property inventories, to save itself from disastrous errors. The Government is very much interested in pooling of vital information as a safeguard and guide to all businesses, for real property is the largest class of capital investment in the nation."

The schedules covering the complete range of information to be collected in this inventory have been practically completed and will be in the hands of the local enumerators within a few days. This information covers a wide range of subjects dealing primarily with residential property.

Included in the information will be data showing the condition of the property with regard to repairs and improvements, the number of vacant properties of both houses and apartments, the number of families that have doubled up because of the depression, the physical character of the structures, the equipment installed, and information of a similar character.

It will also show the average current rental which can then be compared with census data for 1929. The range of basic facts and figures is wide and is believed essential in establishing for the guidance of the public, the building industry, and the Government, the exact status of the housing situation as it exists in this country today.

Among the cities that so far are included in the real property inventory are the following:

ARIZONA: Phoenix.

CALIFORNIA:

SENATOR TO SPONSOR HIGHWAY AID BILL

Senator Hayden of Utah, has prepared a bill for introduction at the next Congress providing for continuation of federal aid for state highways in the amount of $125,000,000 for the years 1934-35. The bill provides that one-half the amount allotted to the states need not be matched by them, and also provides no deduction shall be made for amounts previously advanced to the states.

CODE AUTHORITY TO STANDARDIZE LUMBER MARKING

Association Will Designate Quality Under Uniform Regulations

The Lumber Code Authority, in compliance with the lumber code, is undertaking to bring about the marking of all lumber and timber products in such a way as to indicate the quality grade of each product, designation of the association responsible for the grading, the designation of the manufacturer, the species and dimensions, and condition with respect to dryness. The organized lumber industry has long sought to universalize grade and trade marking of lumber. A provision in the lumber code requires such practice.

The Lumber Code Authority, whose Control Committee is now in session at Portland, Ore., has submitted to its administrative agencies for criticism a "Proposed Plan for the Marking and Certification of Lumber and Timber Products." The Control Committee will consider the plan in the light of the solicited criticisms.

The suggested regulations specify that each piece—or bundle in the case of bundled products—be marked with a symbol or name indicating the standard grade, and including designation of the association under whose published rules the grading is made, the manufacturer's identification mark or number, the species, and the condition of dryness. The rules prescribe the commercial name which may be applied to each botanical species, declare that "no quality mark shall be used indicating any grade which is not described in the published grading rules applying thereto," and enumerate the following four conditions of dryness: kiln dried, air dried, surface or shipping dry, green.

Standard dimensions for softwoods must be in accordance with American Lumber Standards for softwood lumber and timber published by the U. S. Bureau of Standards in the current edition of Simplified Practice Recommendations R-16 or for hardwood lumber published by the Central Committee on Lumber Standards July 1, 1926.

In addition to branding or marking each piece or bundle, every domestic shipment shall be accompanied by a certificate from the originating shipper showing the name or number of the originating mill, name of purchaser, name of carrier and car number or name of boat, number of pieces and board measure (except that piece tally is to be made for material not tallied on stock sizes), the extent of seasoning, and the name of official inspector and of the manufacturers' association whose rules govern.

Factory and shop lumber, both hardwood and softwood, are specifically excepted from the necessity of marking as to species, grade, standard or substandard dimensions, and condition of dryness.
